EXTRADITE HOHENZOLLERN, DEMAND OF FRANCE

Wilson to Sail After Dec. 4 With Entourage of 200, on Liner Convoyed by Warships

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Wilson will sail for ance between December 4 and 10 on a former trans-Atlantic liner oyed by naval craft, according to the plans now being made. His urage, including the American peace delegation, advisers, ex-ts, secretaries, stenographers and the wives of some of the officials, number approximately 200 persons.

Secretary Lansing said today that neither the date, seat nor pro-mme of the peace conference had been decided on by the associated vernments. There is thought to be little question, however, that the unal will sit at Versailles, where preparations already are under for it.

There is reason to believe that the programme, if not the date of conference, will not be finally arranged until after the preliminary erences to be held at Versailles or Paris between President Wilson the representatives of the Allied governments. It is extremely un-ly that the formal peace congress will be convened before Janu-, and some authorities believed today that it would hardly meet be-the middle or latter part of January.

The preliminary conferences with President Wilson are expected to be not as important as the sessions of the formal conference. What ded at the preliminary conferences will have the force of binding peace conference itself, inasmuch as the heads of the Entente and governments will have made the decisions.

There are extreme differences between some of the Allied nations and is thought, between the Entente Powers and the United States, the difference relating to questions of territorial dispositions, the latter application of President Wilson's principles. It is understood to be Wilson's hope that most of these differences and all of a very character, may be resolved before the formal congress sits.

ENGLAND AND ITALY EXPECT PRESIDENT.

There is expectancy in both England and Italy that President Wilson those countries while he is in Europe. It is known that very pressure will be brought to induce him to go to London and Rome the interval between the preliminary conference to be held at Ver-between the heads of the associated governments and the convening the peace conference.

Some of the Allied nations favor an even broader basis for the league. They propose economic arrangements such as will prevent any country from being forced, by the necessity of circumstances, from becoming tributary to another country. To accomplish this end they propose the abolishment of the most favored nation treatment, which is understood to be favored by President Wilson also but perhaps not as a part of the constitution of the league of nations.

NATIONS TO BE ADMITTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Aside from the personnel of the American delegation and preparations for President Wilson's journey to France, interest here in the peace conference centers on what nations are to participate in the deliberations.

The Entente Powers and the United States have borne the brunt of the war, and their representatives will outline a plan of procedure for the conference. These powers also will determine the extent of the participation of other nations which have declared war on the Central Powers, others which only severed diplomatic relations, still others which observed "a benevolent neutrality" toward the associated nations, and, finally, the neutral nations which might seek representation on the ground that their future will be affected vitally by the expected decisions of the conference.

Each nation admitted to participation in the conference will be regarded as a unit. The number of its commissioners or delegates will not matter, nor is it expected that decisions will be recorded on the basis of majority votes of these units. If the usual rules governing such international gatherings are observed at Versailles, and officials here believe they will be, no attempt will be made to bind minorities to the opinions held by a majority of the commissioners. Each nation will be free to adhere to any declaration of principals proposed to the conference, or to withhold its assent.

In The Hague convention a number of governments declined to accept certain rules laid down, and others did so only with reservations, which were set out with great exactness in the protocol. Yet these divergent views did not prevent the agreement of the conferees upon the great general principles, the adoption of which was the main object of the powers which conceived and brought together the international gathering.

Nothing has been announced officially regarding the composition of the American mission to the conference, and one high official said today that nearly everything that has been said on the subject is only guesswork, and that President Wilson himself is the only person who knows who will be the American representatives.

It is known, however, that Secretary Lansing will head the American delegation. It also was said today upon his authority that the name of former President Taft, who has been mentioned in connection with the commission, could be eliminated as a possibility.

NO CHANGE OF HEART EFFECTED IN BERLIN.

NOT FAINTEST SIGN OF NATIONAL REPENTANCE IS NOTED IN GERMANY.

[ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GENEVA, Nov. 18.—(Delayed.) The German revolution as seen from here certainly demands a suspension of judgment. It is extremely unlike the Russian revolution—no exultation in liberty, no particular indignation against the authors of the national misfortune, no recognition of the wrong done by Germany to the world, not the faintest sign of national repentance.

The overthrow of the German monarchs is regarded with indifference, or scarcely-concealed regret, and there is no hint of any disclosures regarding responsibility for the war, no publication of secret documents.

The hostile attitude toward the Allies is unchanged, or rather intensified, by the sense of humiliation caused by the conditions of the armistice, for which we, not the German rulers, are apparently considered to blame.

The persistence of the arrogant and exclusive German spirit under the new conditions is most remarkable.

Perhaps, when communication is restored and the truth comes home, a more conciliatory spirit will appear. As yet, the revolt has effected no change of heart in Germany. Yet the discipline of the German people is surprising. It apparently submits to the new authority as readily as to the old, and is only concerned to adapt itself to the new conditions.

The prevailing anxiety is to maintain order, in view of the demobilization and the Bolshevist danger. The soviets of soldiers and workmen, thought working clumsily, seem on the whole willing to assist in the maintaining of public discipline. The bourgeoise is gradually recovering from the shock and forming councils among themselves, officials and intellectuals, which seek representation in the central soviets.

It is absurd to say there is nothing spontaneous in the German revolution, but certainly it is to a large extent a grudging acknowledgment of the crushing military defeat. It has not yet, however, the aspect of a heartfelt recantation of German imperialism.

FIRM RULE AT BERLIN.

Revolution Ousts Former Idols.

Strong Government in Control Brings Order from Chaos in Capital.

Higher Classes Join Support of the Present Leaders of Germany.

[ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

(This is the second cable received from Berlin since peace.)

BERLIN (via The Hague) Nov. 16.—No casual visitor who dropped this seventh day of the revolution into Berlin could possibly form the faintest idea of the series of tremendous earthquakes that have shaken Germany to her very foundation and caused all the petrified idols to tumble from their lofty heights into the dust in shattered ruins, never to rise again. If it were not for the red flags flying from most of the public buildings nothing would distinguish the Berlin of today very much from the Berlin of November, 1917, excepting, perhaps, the utter absence of the Prussian officer, the fact being that the long war had already impoverished the once gay appearance of the German capital.

A week ago Berliners went to bed to a painful degree in an absolute monarchy, and when they awoke the next morning they found themselves in a most radical republic. It was like a dream, people said; but after celebrating and wondering, as the case might be, for twelve hours, the people have sobered up quickly under the pressure of the awful realities of the general situation, and almost everybody today is resolutely putting his shoulder to the wheel, or at least trying to readjust his shattered conception of the world to the hard fact. The long war and its fearful consequences has schooled this people and of course after the fearful and absolutely unexpected catastrophes nothing whatever could really stun them any more.

REVOLUTION A FACT.

Today the revolution is an accomplished fact, and everybody, to outward appearances, goes quietly about his business. True, many, even among the uninitiated, saw it coming, and nearly the whole people, excepting the very small reactionary percentage had for weeks been asking "Why does not he go? Why in hell doesn't he quit?" "He" standing for his once terrible majesty, William the Second.

Then finally he went, too late to prevent a complete change of everything. The revolution was already progressing, Max von Baden's so-called people's government being far too weak to stop the silently swelling tide of liberty.

Though many would like to have seen emerge from the catastrophe a government more on the lines of the western democracies, for the present nearly all the intelligent people are thankfully recognizing that none but the strong organization of the Social Democratic party could possibly have saved the situation from the utter chaos to which the Kaiser's criminally selfish attitude seemed to doom the German people.

RULERS MAKE GOOD.

So far the Socialist government certainly has made good. Everything is orderly and quiet. The masses of the people after the first few days returned to work. There were no flowers, no music, no alcohol about this revolution, nor were there bonfires or much gun powder spent, as proved by the scant traces at the royal palace.

This was indeed a very unpicturesque and sober revolution and if its results seem to develop somewhat on the Russian lines, it is only in outward appearance, the German revolutionaries having borrowed the names of Russian institutions such as "Councils of Soldiers and Workmen." Such councils indeed are blossoming forth in great variety; even the higher classes, having recovered from their stupefaction, are forming councils, how all of which try to do their best to aid the new government to preserve law and order.

Today the newspapers tell of a council of the stock exchange men, including mere employees, of a council of academicians, embracing students and professors alike, of a council of the reformed Liberal parties, of a council of Berlin municipal employees, a council of gardeners and peasants and many others.

"Soon we shall hear of a council of junkers, or even a council of abdicated princes," remarked an irrepressible jester.

But, joking aside, the Centrist party, led by the archbishop of Munich, and even various conservative organizations have issued appeals this morning to members to aid the present government, insisting however, that a national con-

War Losses Greatest Since Asiatic Barbarians Battled to Extermination.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 20.—(British Wireless Service.) The Times, in discussing the casualties during the war, calls upon the Allied governments to compel the Germans to treat the prisoners in their hands without abuse. It says that the losses in the war are the greatest since Asiatic barbarians carried on wars of extermination.

"Now for the first time," it says, "we begin to learn officially at how great a cost a victory has been won. Our casualties on land amount to the enormous figure of 3,049,000. To judge the full sum of bloody sacrifice the casualties of our Allies and the murders Germany has done must be added.

"These published casualties are more than double the entire white population of New Zealand or of the Union of South Africa. They are far greater than the population of any city in the world except London and New York.

"Even now, when the Germans are whining and clamoring for the modification of conditions incomparably milder than those they forced upon Russia and Rumania, they show neither pity nor common prudence toward the helpless victims still in their power.

BRUTALITY BEYOND BELIEF.

"The brutality they are showing our unfortunate prisoners almost exceeds belief. They already have reduced the numbers by systematic cruelty and starvation. They are now turning them adrift without food, warm clothing or money, to find their way through hostile populations to the frontier as best they can.

"It is time, and high time, for the Allies to tell the Germans that this monstrous and inhuman abuse must cease promptly. They have the right to make the demand and the power to enforce it. Their own peoples will fiercely resent any hesitation in the exercise of either."

The Daily News urges that the names of commandants and all officers in the German camps which release prisoners in a helpless condition should be demanded at once, "preferably by wireless," so that they may be made to answer for their behavior. It adds that the Allied governments should establish at once who it is that now is responsible for the conduct of affairs in Germany and what is the exact position of the new government.

DEMANDS PUNISHMENT.

The Daily Chronicle says:

"We are glad to see that our government has wirelessed a stern warning to the German government regarding the barbarous treatment of British prisoners, who have been discharged without food and in rags and sent to find their way for long distances on foot to the Allied lines.

"It ought to be made quite clear not only that any continuance of such atrocities will forfeit the claim of the German people to compassionate treatment in the matter of food, but that every German who had already incurred responsibility for them will have that responsibility brought home to him to condign punishment. The case of wanton cruelty to war prisoners is one in which failure of exact retribution would be a betrayal of the future interests of civilization.

"Posterity must have placed before its eyes the record of stern examples calculated to deter those in charge of helpless prisoners from venturing again to commit savageries which have been wreaked on our men in this war by Germans, Bulgars and Turks.

"The terrible stories of the Turkish treatment of the captured Kut garrison, now revealed to the public in all its horror by the official White paper, points the same moral. Our government has in the past declared that it would hold Enver Pasha (former Minister of War) and Talaat Pasha (former Grand Vizier) and their colleagues personally responsible for the ill treatment of our wounded British prisoners. This declaration ought to be carried out to the letter. Criminal Turkish ministers should without more ado be hunted down, brought to public trial, duly convicted and hanged."

LETTERS FOR PRISONERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Letters to American soldiers who were prisoners in Germany when the armistice was signed should be addressed to the company and regiment with which they served before their capture, the War Department announced today. The words "formerly prisoner of war in Germany" should be written in the left-hand corner of the envelope.

Move to Compel Holland to Turn Former Kaiser Over to Allies Fathered by Clemenceau

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Premier Clemenceau has asked Charles Lyon-Caen, dean of the faculty of law at the University of Paris, to give an opinion on the question whether the extradition of William Hohenzollern, former German Emperor, can be demanded. M. Lyon-Caen has asked that he be given time to reply, La Liberte says.

Edouard Clunet, the leading French authority on international law, has given it as his opinion that it is impossible to demand the former Kaiser's extradition.

Discussing the position of the former German Emperor, the Temps says: "The government of Holland has always the power to expel an undesirable. Let is use its power."

The Temps admits that Holland's receiving the Kaiser could be understood while it was not known what was going on in Germany, when refusal might mean that he would be lynched at a frontier post, but adds: "Nothing can excuse the outrage that the man who caused the death of millions should enjoy peaceable existence in a country which would have lost its independence if we had been defeated.

"If William is placed aboard a boat or conducted to the Belgian frontier, the Allies will know what they ought to do with him. If he is conducted to the German frontier the Berlin government will have an opportunity to show the depth of its republican convictions by the ardor it displays in punishing the author of the war."

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says Hans Delbrueck and other German conservative politicians have appealed to the government to appoint a committee of impartial men, including prominent neutrals, to investigate accusations of breaches of international law by Germany during the war.

LUXEMBURG WELCOMES YANKEES.

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.

[ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, Nov. 21, 9 a.m.—The progress of the American Third Army across the Duchy of Luxemburg has taken on the nature of a triumphal procession. Wednesday's march took the doughboys through villages filled with cheering people and down streets lined with American flags, and this morning the advance was resumed. The same sort of reception greeted them on all sides. On our right, in Lorraine, the joy at the sight of American troops knows no bounds.

From ahead comes word that the towns all along as far as the German border are filled with holiday spirit to honor the Americans. This development delights the Americans, who had expected at best a lukewarm reception in the little country supposed to be pro-German.

As this is written is too early to give the limits of today's advance.

BOCHES UNRULY.

The German withdrawal is losing some of its first neatness. More and more trucks are being left behind and a considerable number of stragglers are trying to enter our lines. Reports say that German officers, who seem to be trying to observe all the provisions of the armistice, are having growing trouble with their men, most of whom think only of getting home and away from the army, of which they are sick.

This does not apply to the Prussians, but generally to all other elements of the enemy's army. About two-thirds of our front is moving through Luxemburg, with the rest moving across Lorraine. French armies are on our right and left.

Residents of French and Belgian towns are kept busy cleaning up after the Germans. In every village one sees fires burning piles of clothes and personal equipment which the Huns left behind them. The rooms they occupied in private houses are being aired and fumigated, while whole towns are busy cleaning up public buildings the Boches used, in many of which are found indescribable filth.

BRITISH ADVANCE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Field Marshal Haig tonight reports on the British advance as follows:

"The Second and Fourth armies resumed their march this morning toward the German frontier. The movement of our troops is being conducted in accordance with programme without incident.

"On our right advanced detachments are pushing forward toward the Meuse south of Namur. On our left we have reached the general line of Gembloux-Wavre."

RED CROSS WORKERS CROSS RHINE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A delegation of the American Red Cross has crossed the Rhine into Baden at Huningue (Huningen,) placing the first Americans on German soil a short distance north of the Swiss frontier. The German soldiers accepted American flags and officers cleared the roads for the Red Cross trucks and insisted that the Red Cross workers drink with them.

German soldiers' councils in Baden are selling German arms and supplies. The population, which is revolutionary, is in complete control. Ragged and famished Italians almost raised the roof of the Red Cross canteen with cheers when the Americans opened the place.

The Red Cross delegation left Switzerland for Alsace Friday, taking with it a truckload of supplies. Two hundred Italians were fed. A canteen was established at St. Louis. Ten thousand Germans passed the canteen, all wearing the revolutionary red ribbon or rosettes. The officers and men carried red flags.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Resolutions opposing "any extension of credit by American banks to Germany without the depositors' consent," were adopted here today by the boycott committee of the National Defense Society. The society announced it would make public the name of any bank extending such loans.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 21.—The Politiken's Helsingfors correspondent reports a three-hour bombardment of Vitikalla, Finland, by three Russian warships flying the red flag.

The dispatch adds that the Finnish government has ordered the evacuation of the frontier districts, fearing hostilities.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—David R. Francis the American Ambassador to Russia, has arrived at Strathpeffer, Scotland. He stood the trip from Archangel well and was met by his son.

[A Washington dispatch October 31, said Ambassador Francis was leaving Archangel for the British Isles, where he would undergo a minor operation.]

SLAV LEADER VISITS WILSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Prince Lvoff, accompanied by Ambassador Bakhmeteff, called on President Wilson at the White House late today and spent half an hour discussing Russian affairs.

Recognition by the United States and the Allies as a de facto government of Russia of the faction in harmony with Allied aims was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator King of Utah, and referred to the Foreign Relations Committee. It would recommend joint military aid to overthrow the Bolshevik government and assist the Russian people in establishing an orderly government.

TEUTON BATTLESHIPS GIVEN UP.

Hohenzollern Dreams of World Power End When Costly Warships are Turned Over to the Associated Nations Without Firing a Shot.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

EDINBURGH (Scotland) Nov. 21.—Germany's high seas fleet after its surrender to the Allied navies was brought to the Firth of Forth today.

The British Grand Fleet and five American battleships and three French warships, in two long columns, escorted the seventy-one German vessels to their anch orage.

HARWICH (Eng.) Nov. 21.—Another flotilla of German U-boats surrendered today to a British squadron. There were nineteen submarines in all. The twentieth, which should have come today, broke down on the way.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The German fleet as specified in the terms of the armistice with Germany, surrendered today to the Allies.

This announcement was made officially by the Admiralty this afternoon. The statement reads: "The main German fleet surrendered at 9:20 o'clock this morning."

The Admiralty statement reads: "The commander-in-chief of the Grand Fleet has reported that at 9:20 o'clock this morning he met the first and main instalment of the German high seas fleet, which is surrendering for internment."

RENDEZVOUS AT SEA.

The point of the rendezvous for the Allied and German sea forces was between thirty and forty miles east of May Island, opposite the Firth of Forth.

The fog which had enveloped the Grand Fleet for three days cleared last night and this morning the weather was dull with a slight haze hanging over the Firth of Forth.

The fleet which witnessed the surrender consists of some 400 ships, including sixty dreadnaughts, fifty light cruisers and nearly 200 destroyers. Admiral Sir David Beatty, commander of the Grand Fleet, was on the Queen Elizabeth.

The German fleet that surrendered to the British today, it became known this evening, consisted of nine battleships, five battle cruisers, seven light cruisers and fifty destroyers.

PORT IS SELECTED.

The surrendered German fleet will be taken to the Scapa Flow tomorrow.

[The Scapa Flow is in the middle of the Orkney Islands, off the northeast coast of Scotland. It is a small inland sea, with an area of fifty square miles. It contains many small islands and has numerous good harbors and roadsteads. There is good anchorage in the Scapa Flow for a great number of large vessels. Before the war it was the headquarters of the British home fleet during the naval training season.]

One German destroyer, while on its way across the North Sea with the other ships of the German high seas fleet to surrender, struck a mine. The warship was badly damaged and sank.

There remain to be surrendered two battleships, which are under repair, and fifteen modern torpedo-boat destroyers.

The British Grand Fleet, accompanied by an American battle squadron and French cruisers, steamed out at 3 o'clock this morning from its Scottish base to accept the surrender of the German battleships, battle cruisers and destroyers. A wireless dispatch this noon reports that it got into touch with the German ships this morning and that the surrender is being carried out according to plan.

TO PAINT SURRENDER.

The scene in Admiral Sir David Beatty's cabin on the Queen Elizabeth when the German delegates arranged for the surrender of the German fleet is to be placed on canvas by Sir John Lavery of the Royal Academy. Sir John made a special visit to the grand fleet at the request of the British Admiralty to make the preliminary sketches for the painting. He was present in the admiral's cabin during the conference.

There will be fifteen figures in the painting, including Admiral Beatty, Vice-Admiral Sir Montague Browning, Rear-Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt and the five German delegates.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 21.—The first German naval warships destined for internment by the Allies left Kiel Harbor on Sunday, according to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin. They included the Bayern, Grosser Kurfuerst, Kronprinz, Markgraf, Koenig Albert Kaiserin, Seydlitz and Moltke.

AMERICAN SHIPS ATTEND.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—An American battle squadron probably including five dreadnaughts, commanded by Rear-Admiral Hugh Rodman and operating as a unit of the British Grand Fleet, participated today in the passing of German sea power.

The Americans shared in the formal acceptance by Admiral Beatty, First British Sea Lord, of the surrender of the main force of the German high seas fleet, as designated in the terms of armistice.

The identity of American naval craft in European waters never has been disclosed. The dreadnaughts originally sent over were selected because they burned coal, as the British government had difficulty in maintaining a supply of fuel oil. The first group may have been relieved, and more modern ships sent in their place. With the American squadron went all auxiliary craft necessary to maintain them in active service without drain upon British resources. They have been on duty with the Grand Fleet for fifteen months.

The first ships sent over by the navy were destroyers, and the original force, commanded by Admiral Sims, has been augmented very largely. American destroyers presumably still are kept on patrol and convoy duty until all German submarines are accounted for. American submarine chasers, of which large numbers were sent to European waters, possibly played a part with other vessels in today's events.

U-BOATS SURRENDER.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ON BOARD A BRITISH CRUISER, Wednesday, Nov. 20, 6:45 p.m.—Twenty German submarines, the first of the German fleet to surrender, were taken over by the British thirty-six miles east of Harwich this morning. The transfer, by Admiralty orders, was made silently and without demonstration. The German crews sullenly obeyed the orders which had been given them, and tonight the U-boats lie moored under the British flag near a British submarine base.

During the surrender American seaplanes flew low overhead while American submarine chasers carried British crews to the undersea boats.

From the time the leading submarine was sighted there was not a word of communication with the Germans. Only once they spoke to the British, complaining of the speed and saying that the weaker ones were unable to keep up. "Slower, my last boats cannot keep up this speed," was the wireless message from a commander, who did not sign the name of his boat to the message.

BEGAN AT SUNRISE.

The scene that began about sunrise, when the first submarine was sighted, until late this evening, when the last one was rounded up, might have easily been mistaken for fleet maneuvers. The work was carried out with such precision that there were few signs of the momentous significance of it all. The crews of the British ships lined the rails, but seemed little interested. Evidence of strain and deep chagrin was unmistakably written on the faces of some enemy officers. The machinery was generally in good shape, but the vessels were extremely dirty and devoid of all unessentials.

The British ships, with their crews at quarters and every gun manned, took precautions that nothing untoward occurred. One of the eighteen British destroyers in the fleet took a position ahead of the two German transports accompanying the submarines. Other destroyers steamed along on each side when the column started toward Harwich.

The column was divided into five divisions. In addition to the seaplanes, dirigibles kept company with the fleet and an observation balloon which was anchored to a cruiser kept vigil. Ten miles from Harwich the fleet was met by more British destroyers which carried crews from British submarines. These men were divided into parties of fourteen each, and each was transferred by American submarine chasers to the U-boats, where a British officer quickly took charge.

The German crews were placed on a destroyer and taken to the two transports, which had accompanied them. These vessels were escorted by destroyers to the rendezvous of the morning, whence they left to make their return trip to Germany alone.

ROSYTH (Scotland) Nov. 20 (via Montreal.) — King George and Queen Mary entertained today on board Admiral Beatty's flagship, the British, French and American admirals assembled here in connection with the surrender of the German warships. The King reviewed the entire British Grand Fleet, and was received enthusiastically.

Afterward the King and Queen witnessed the departure of fast destroyers forming the vanguard of the some 200 fighting ships to which the Germans were to surrender.

LIFT CENSORSHIP.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Final steps toward the removal of censorship restrictions on publication of movements of commercial shipping were taken today by the Navy Department. Port authorities were notified that ship news reporters might hereafter board incoming vessels as in peace times, and the Treasury Department was advised that collectors of the port may release news of the movements of commercial shipping hereafter without restrictions.

The navy will continue on a war footing until surrender of German war craft has progressed so far that there is no possibility of the terms of the armistice not being carried out. A statement of censorship policy obtained officially today at the Navy Department says that only movements of war vessels, transports and supply vessels directly under naval jurisdiction need be withheld from publication for the present. Coastwise shipping movements on the Pacific Coast were released from the censorship some time ago and navy officials are anxious to abandon all restrictions including those upon the movement of naval vessels at the earliest possible moment.

MOONEY TRIAL JUDGE URGES NEW HEARING.

MAN WHO SENTENCED CONVICTED BOMB THROWER PLEADS HIS CAUSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The effort to save Thomas J. Mooney from the gallows was marked here today by the publication of a letter from Superior Judge Franklin A. Griffin, who tried and sentenced Mooney, to Gov. Stephens, asking a new trial for Mooney because of alleged evidences of a fraud conspiracy against him. The letter was written on November 19. Its receipt in Sacramento was acknowledged today by Gov. Stephens, who would make no comment.

In the letter, Judge Griffin said the testimony against Mooney offered by Frank C. Oxman, Durkee, Or., cattleman, Mrs. Mellie Eadeau and her daughter, Sadie, and John McDonald was open to attack. Information developed after the trial and after the motion for a new trial had been denied that this evidence was faulty, Judge Griffin said.

"The situation of Mooney is that he stands condemned to death upon evidence concerning the truth of which, to say the least, there has arisen a very grave doubt," the letter said. "Since his trial facts and circumstances have come to light which seriously reflect upon the credibility of three of the four witnesses who link him with the crime of preparedness day, and which shake the very foundation of the case upon which the people rely for his conviction.

"The highest courts in the State and nation have declared themselves to be without power to relieve him. Upon the shoulders of the Chief Executive therefore, rests this great responsibility.

"I can only say that right and justice demand a new trial for Thomas J. Mooney."

Judge Griffin reviewed the testimony of the witnesses in question and pointed out its alleged faults.

Oxman was accused by defense attorneys of having conspired with Dist.-Atty. Fickert to obtain the fraudulent conviction of Mooney in order to share in the $17,000 reward offered for the conviction of those who perpetrated the preparedness Day bomb murders. He was tried for attempted subornation of perjury, but was acquitted.

Labor organizations were active in the campaign to save Mooney also. Resolutions passed by the Machinists' Lodge calling for a strike in Mooney's behalf were made public. A meeting of the San Francisco Labor Council was announced for tomorrow night, at which the action taken by the machinists was to be discussed. The advisability of asking the other unions in the jurisdiction of the council to consider the machinists' action was to be considered also.

Judge Griffin's letter and the union action followed the denial of Mooney's appeal by the United States Supreme Court. His attorneys said his case was now squarely up to Gov. Stephens.

STATES PLAN TO EXPORT 50,000,000 POUNDS WHEAT, 20,000,000 POUNDS SUGAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Nov. 21.—A party of United States consuls arrived here today en route back to their stations after having attended a conference in Mexico City, which discussed with Mexican officials questions relating to exportation of food to Mexico.

Tentative plans are understood to have been made for the exportation of 50,000,000 pounds of wheat flour and 20,000,000 pounds of sugar, to be distributed in proportion to population among the various American consular districts in Mexico. J. E. Tracy of the War Trade Board at Washington attended the conference.

Among the consuls passing here today en route to their posts were Bowe, of Juarez; Lawton, of Nogales; Stewart, of Chihuahua; Smith of Ensenada; Yost, of Santa Rosalia, and Chapman, of Mazatlan.

ONCE QUEEN OF SEAS IS SUNK DURING GALE

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 21—The steamer Campania, once queen of the seas, has sunk in the Firth of Forth, Scotland, during a gale. All on board were saved.

The Campania broke from her moorings during the gale and collided with a battleship, sinking before she could be beached.

The Campania, a former fleet Line trans-Atlantic flyer, for several years has been mother ship for seaplanes in the British navy. In 1893 the Campania made a record trip from New York to Queenstown in five days, twelve hours and seven minutes, cutting the time of the American Line steam City of Paris by two hours for the eastern trip.

LIFT CABLE CENSORSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Specific requirements applying to cablegrams regarding trans-Atlantic ship movements have been withdrawn by the American censorship, according to an announcement here tonight by the Commercial Cable Company.

Mercantile shipping messages not changed in plain language or authorized code, it was stated, will be treated under the general peace ship rather than as a special class.

WILSON CALLED FAITH BREAKER

Senator Watson Criticises the Grabbing of Cables.

Declares it Step to Federal Ownership Plan.

Absence of President Denounced by Sherman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Wilson's action in taking over control and operation of marine cable systems and express agencies was criticised vigorously today in the Senate. Republican Senators said it was part of a plan to establish permanent government ownership.

The speakers were Senator Watson of Indiana, Kellogg of Minnesota and Sherman of Illinois. In the debate the President was criticised for his decision to go to Europe. George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information who, it has been reported, is to accompany the President, also was attacked.

Senator Watson denounced the President's action in taking over cable lines as a breach of faith and charged that their control was inspired by a desire for government censorship of dispatches during the peace conference so that representatives of the European nations at the peace table may not know what is being said in the American Congress about the conference.

In the midst of the debate, Senator Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip, sought to reply to the Republican Senators, but did not get recognition. He did, however, offer a resolution which would put Congress on record as favoring government ownership of railroads and telegraph and telephone lines.

BREACH OF FAITH.

In declaring this belief that the President's action was a breach of faith, Senator Watson said Congress voted this extraordinary power for war purposes only.

"Why is that step taken?" asked the Senator. "In my belief it is taken simply because of the fact that the President is loath to give up any of the power that we have clothed him with, and that those subordinate to him, including those of his Cabinet, do not intend to relinquish that power unless compelled to do so by legislative action.

"We are left to the wide field of conjecture as to why the President saw fit at this particular time to take over the cables. Certainly no one will claim that he is taking them over as a necessity of war. I take it for granted that when the President leaves these shores to do all the acts and purposes the cable lines will be cut.

"I take it for granted he does not intend that any man at the peace table shall know what is being said in the House of Representatives and on the floor of this body, and I take it for granted that we are not to know on this side what they are doing.

CABLES CENSORED.

"With George Creel at that end controlling all of the messages and information and with Albert Burleson at this end controlling all of the sources of information, its very verbiage in fact, the country may well be warned that it may take at feast with a grain of salt whatever is published as to what happens on the other side."

Senator Sherman said there might be some necessity for the President going abroad, but that he could not see it, and added that no provision is made in the Constitution for the absence of the President from the territorial limits of the United States. The White House, he said, will be moved to Paris, and added:

"We are left to the tender mercies of a censored cable; passports denied, cables controlled, and Creel sits as imperial dictator at the source of action.

Senator Kellogg said there was no war necessity for taking over cable lines and express agencies, as the armistice has been signed, and added that in his opinion the action "is part of a plan to fasten government ownership to telegraph, telephone and cable lines on the country."

STRONG HANDS RULE GERMANY.

vention be called as soon as possible, for the reconstitution of the state. This, Chancellor Ebert promised, shall be convened in the beginning of January.

It is only just to state that the present government is extremely fair in its attitude toward the employees of the former regime, leaving as many as possible in their old positions. Perhaps too many, the extremists claim, since there is danger of laying a viper on one's own bosom; for there cannot be any doubt that many of the old officials, especially of the higher ranks, would rejoice in the failure of the present government no matter at what cost to their country.

But despite all these tremendous difficulties things are going astonishingly smoothly, considering the appalling difficulties. What seemed the most immediate danger to the Ebert government, namely, the rupture of the two large groups of Socialists which support it, has happily been avoided by their making common cause.

SPARTACUS GROUP.

The Spartacus group which formed a small part of the independent Socialists now threatens to secede from it because it is dissatisfied with the government's conservative policy. Last night the Spartacus group called a meeting formally to separate from the old associates, but both its leaders, Liebknecht and Sarah (Rosa?) Luxemburg, being absent no decisive step was taken. The reason for their absence was that a squad of armed men had invaded the Lokal Anzeiger's editorial printing room to suppress that paper and publish in its stead their own organ, Die Rote Fahne. They had done this on the first two days of the revolution, but had been persuaded to evacuate again. Their second attempt also proved futile because the Socialist printers refused to work for Die Rote Fahne and the Ebert government gave orders this morning that they must leave at once or take the consequences.

The attitude of this small group is no longer considered dangerous, because of the Council of Soldiers refuses to recognize it and it is losing what little backing it had.

With more apprehension, however, the public press and government regard the swelling tide of the uniformed humanity that is beginning to flow back from the western frontier and has already inundated Westphalia. Within one week it will probably have reached Berlin. Everything imaginable is being done to prevent another catastrophe and to lead this great flood into proper channels, but the question is: Will the impoverished and exhausted people and this terribly handicapped government be able to accomplish this?

SUPPLIES GATHERED.

To this end supplies are being scraped together wherever found. To civilians all distant travel is barred; every locomotive, every car is reserved for home-coming soldiers. The former Prince's palace and the House of Lords, in which the people's fate used to be decided, are prepared for the reception of those who cannot find room in the already overcrowded barracks and whom the war has deprived of their own homes. Around Cologne, Berlin and other great cities cordons of soldiers are being formed to divert the threatening flood into harmless channels if possible. Nevertheless, everybody's heart is heavy with apprehension of what the next few days may bring.

Much, too, has been done for reform in municipal government in Berlin, Hamburg and all other cities, where the old form of election for city parliaments has been replaced by a secret universal ballot. In Berlin the people's new police president, Eichhorn, has abolished the much-hated political branch and also abolished the hated name of "Schutzmann" (protector,) which has been replaced by "watchman." The watchmen no longer carry sabers, but go unarmed until they can be furnished with rubber clubs. Meanwhile they are aided by members of of the Council of Soldiers, who are carried through the streets on automobiles formerly in the military service. They carry rifles and machine guns and are the terror of housebreakers and plunderers, with whom they make very short work.

CRIMES ARE FEW.

Considering the circumstances, however, there has been astonishingly few cases of robbery and similar crimes. Among the autos now employed in patroling the city are some that formerly belonged to the ex-Kaiser, and their horns, sounding the "Zuetien Hasectat," familiar to all Berliners, were heard on their new duty as they raced for the first time along the crowded Roten Linden (Red Linden,) as that famous street—the Under Den Linden that was—is named now.

November 17.—The German people evince little curiosity as to the fate of their former rulers and the present government, which is busy with more pressing questions, has not found time for consideration of its attitude toward the future fate of the ex-Kaiser and his family. At any rate, this has not yet been made the subject of any official deliberations and no member of the government believes himself justified in making a statement at present.

However, a very large number of people read with great satisfaction in the newspapers today extracts from the Times' interview with former Ambassador Gerard. There are large circles here who share Gerard's opinion and believe the secret archives are to be searched for evidence against Wilhelm Hohenzollern and his son.

MRS. HOHENZOLLERN WAITS.

The ex-Kaiser's wife, who has obtained permission to join his exile, was still in the Neue Palast at Potsdam this morning, where she will have to wait until the present railway congestion, caused by the demobilization, permits her departure. The ex-Crown Princess and her children and also the wives of other Hohenzollerns, Princes August Wilhelm and Eitel Friedrich, are with their mother at Potsdam. All are under the custody of the Potsdam Council of Soldiers and Workers. The report that the wife of the ex-King of Bavaria died during her flight from Mupich was untrue; she is still alive.

Rupprecht, the Bavarian ex-Crown Prince, who has not yet renounced his right to the throne, is at Brussels, where he will await the Belgian King, who is his brother-in-law.

The former King of Saxony has retired to his private castle near Dresden. A deputation of the soldiers' council pressed him to sign the abdication. He waxed "angry," but finally signed the document, saying:

"There you are; now, don't bother me with your business any more, if you think you'll get on better without me."

Nearly all the German sovereigns and princelings have resigned now. Only Prince Waldeck Pyrmont had to be deposed because he refused to sign his abdication. He is now in the custody of a soldiers' council until he changes his mind.

TIRPITZ IN FLIGHT.

November 19.—According to the Frankfurter Zeitung, former Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz has managed to escape to Switzerland. He left Germany quietly shortly before the revolution broke out, and crossed the Swiss border. The New York Times correspondent is informed that Tirpitz has lately lived at Baden-Baden, which place he had left on the day Prince Max was appointed Chancellor. Von Tirpitz came to Berlin, where, as usual, he stopped at a small hotel in the Potsdamerstrasse. He was said to have had several interviews with the ex-Kaiser at Castle Bellevue and it is probably due to his influence that the ex-Kaiser hesitated so long in signing his abdication. The last time he was seen at 20 Victoriastrasse, the headquarters of the Fatherland party, his appearance had greatly altered. The long, flowing whiskers that distinguished him so significantly had been closely cropped.

Tirpitz had collected enormous funds, especially from the Rhenish industrial circles, for the Pan-German aims. But from other sources, too, he had drawn many millions to be used in corrupting newspapers and for other sinister purposes. The Bavarian King alone paid him 5,000,000 marks to be used in popularizing the idea to embody Alsace-Lorraine in a Lorraine-Bavarian kingdom.

Perhaps 90 per cent. of the people in Germany today demand that he be court-martialed for the part he played in the U-boat war.

On account of the railway congestion an airplane mail service has been initiated between Frankfort-on-the-Main and Berlin, as well as between Berlin and Warsaw. The first flying mail from Frankfort arrived in Berlin late yesterday afternoon.

THOUSANDS ARE USING ANTI-FLU

Few Drops on Handkerchief Disinfects Nose and Throat.

New Preventive for Influenza Has Big Sale Here.

Discovery of Well-known Georgia College Professor.

As announced in yesterday's papers, Wilson's Solution, the new preventive treatment for Spanish Influenza, which has been used in checking the epidemic in the South, is now on sale in Los Angeles, and will be given as rapid distribution as possible throughout the United States.

The solution, or "Anti-Flu," as it is more commonly called, was compounded by Professor Robert C. Wilson, for eleven years head of the department of pharmacy of a leading Southern university, for the protection of himself and his family against the malady. The immunity of the Wilson family and their circle of friends, which followed the use of the solution, made it famous overnight. On account of his university connection and his high standing as an educator, the people of his home city began clamoring for it just as soon as it became known that he had perfected the formula. Leading physicians, specialists and bacteriologists give the preparation their unqualified indorsement and are recommending it to their patients.

Although far more powerful than many other disinfectants now commonly used, it is nonpoisonous, and the odor, although very pungent, is not unpleasant. A few drops of the solution inhaled from a pocket handkerchief at frequent intervals will disinfect the nose and throat. Professor Wilson strongly recommends spraying the nose and throat night and morning with the solution in a diluted form, according to directions accompanying the bottle.

It is Professor Wilson's theory that the influenza germ in the nose and throat can be killed by the powerful antiseptic vapors of the solution just as effectively as you can kill germs in a room by fumigation.

One of the greatest advantages over other preparations is the fact that it can be conveniently carried on the person, and is always ready for use when entering crowds or public places.

Local druggists are already reporting an enormous demand for the preparation and are experiencing considerable difficulty in keeping a supply on hand. A 35-cent vial is sufficient for a week's treatment. The preparation is sold by all druggists.

Wilson's Solution, which is also known as Anti-Flu, is to be used as a preventive treatment only and not as a cure. If you contract Spanish influenza, call your doctor at once. Western Wholesale Drug Co., wholesale distributors for this section.

G.O.P. OPPOSES TAX PROPOSAL.

Simmons Plan of 1920 Impost Meets Objection.

Republicans Favor Reduction of 1919 Revenue.

Chairman Would Tell Business Future Programme.

[BY A. A. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A detailed plan for revising the pending war revenue bill to impose taxes and provide revenues aggregating about $6,000,000,000 next year and $4,000,000,000 in 1920, in line with Secretary McAdoo's recommendations, was submitted today to the Senate Finance Committee by Chairman Simmons.

A decision on the plan was deferred, but a vote may be reached tomorrow. Republican members vigorously opposed the proposal to establish 1920 tax rates in the measure, but Chairman Simmons said they were advised that if they obstruct passage of the bill with the majority's plan to provide 1920 taxation, a straight levy of 80 per cent. on war profits, to furnish the government necessary revenues, will be put through.

Senator Simmons's plan to reduce the bill to $6,000,000,000 for 1919 proposes retention of the House rates on incomes and war excess profits, except the 6 per cent. differential on undistributed corporation earnings; elimination of the 20 per cent. tax on luxuries and retention of other special miscellaneous taxes, but at rates not to exceed an increase of one-third over those of the existing law.

For 1920 Senator Simmons's plan contemplates abolishing the war profits tax, reduction of individual and corporations' normal income rates from 12 to 8 per cent., and reduction by about one-third in the excess profits schedule as now proposed in the revised committee draft. The special miscellaneous taxes would be continued at the 1919 rates.

Both plans for 1919 and 1920, as presented by Senator Simmons, were said to have the approval of the Treasury Department and also generally of Democratic members of the Finance Committee. Republicans indicated general satisfaction with the 1919 suggestions, but again opposed the 1920 extension. Senator Simmons said Democratic committeemen were determined upon the 1920 plan because they believe it is unwise to fix taxes for 1919 without informing the business world of the future programme.

The committee hopes to have the bill ready soon after the new session of Congress convenes, but the Republican opposition and other considerations, it was expected generally, may delay its enactment until next January.

In his proposal for reducing the bill to $6,000,000,000 for 1919, Chairman Simmons took into consideration this prospective loss of about $1,000,000,000 as the result of the operation of the "war time" prohibition legislation signed today by President Wilson. His plan contemplates raising about $5,000,000,000 next year from the income and war excess profits taxes and the remaining $1,000,000,000 from the other sources in the bill, but at the reduced rates suggested.

"The theory upon which the income and excess profits taxes are differentiated from the excise, special and miscellaneous taxes of the bill," said Mr. Simmons in a statement issued tonight, "is based upon the fact that in the case of incomes and excess profits, the taxes for the present fiscal year will be levied upon incomes made during the calendar year 1918, whereas in the case of the other taxes the increase will apply chiefly to transactions taking place during the calendar year 1919, or since the termination of war conditions."

The proposed reduction of $2,000,000,000 in taxes for 1920, Senator Simmons explained, would be accomplished principally through elimination of the war profits tax and reduction from 12 to 8 per cent. of the rate on the normal corporation income of individuals and together with reduction of about one-third in the excess profits rates. The high surtax rates on individual incomes would run through 1920.

AMERICA'S WAR LOSS 145 SHIPS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Loss of 145 American passenger and merchant vessels of 354,449 tons and 775 lives through acts of the enemy during the period from the beginning of the world war to the cessation of hostilities last November 11 is shown by figures made public today by the Department of Commerce. The report does not include several vessels whose loss has not been established as due to enemy acts.

Nineteen vessels and sixty-seven lives were lost through use of torpedoes, mines and gunfire prior to the entrance of the United States into the war.

CONSTRUCTION BAN LIFTED

All Restrictions Affecting Building Operations are Now Removed.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—All remaining restrictions on non-war construction throughout the United States were removed today. This action allows all building operations of any character which were suspended by the war to be resumed. No further permits will be required.

Chairman Baruch of the War Industries Board announced today that D. R. McLennon, chief of the non-war construction section of the board, had telegraphed the order to chairmen of the State councils of defense.

"The action taken permits all building operations of whatever character held up in the interest of the war programme to proceed," says the official announcement. "No further permits will be required from the War Industries Board or the State councils, through whom control over the situation in each State was maintained.

"Immediately following the signing of the armistice on November 11, the non-war construction section took steps to loosen the restraints on the industry and in a formal order issued that day removed a great many of the barriers. Since then, and with a view to assisting the industry back to a complete peace basis as quickly as possible, a careful canvass has been made to determine whether the conditions obtaining in each State with respect to building materials, transportation and the supply of fuel and labor would warrant a removal of the remaining restrictions.

"In this investigation the non-war construction section sought the views of the industry itself and of the State Councils of Defense. The replies received coming from virtually all the States showed a unanimous opinion in favor of this action."

MOST CRUEL WAR ENDS, THANKSGIVING ASKED.

GOVERNOR IN PROCLAMATION SAYS NEVER IN HISTORY SUCH OCCASION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21. — Gov. Stephens today issued the following: THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

By proclamation of the President of the United States, Thursday, the 28th of November, has been designated a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

Never before in the history of our country has there been such occasion for praise to Almighty God. The most cruel war of the centuries has come to an end. America has done a proud part in the great cause for right and justice, and the generations to come will honor the memory of the brave men who gave their lives in order that the peoples on this earth might be free.

Those who have suffered loss of loved ones find a measure of solace in contemplation of what the sacrifice means for human liberty. The world's freedom is now secure. Peace—we hope enduring peace—is now at hand. Our men sent overseas have helped to establish a new Christian fraternity among the nations. Justice has triumphed over the heartlessness of might. The women and children of all lands are safe.

It has been our privilege in California to give a generous measure of aid in the great conflict. We have provided in full measure from our abundant production of food; we have rallied to the call of the national government in its financial needs, and we have supplied more than our quota of men for the armies. We are grateful that we have been able thus to serve the nation.

Now, therefore, I, William D. Stephens, Governor of California, do hereby declare the said 28th day of November, 1918, to be a legal holiday for thanksgiving and prayer.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of California to be affixed this 21st day of November, 1918.

[Signed] WILLIAM D. STEPHENS, Governor.

Attest: Frank C. Jordan, Secretary of State.

TRY THIS TONIC FOR STUBBORN ILLS OF THE STOMACH

Some forms of stomach trouble that do not yield to ordinary treatment often respond to the tonic treatment that builds up the system, strengthens the nerves that control the digestive processes and gives the stomach a supply of rich, red blood.

"My stomach was out of order," says Mr. Albert J. Snell, whose address is R. F. D. No. 60, Bemus Point, N. Y., and my appetite was so poor that I did not care for food. There was constantly a gnawing pain in my stomach. I got but little nourishment and soon was completely run-down. I couldn't sleep nor rest well, although I craved it and my eyes ached. My complexion and the whites of my eyes had a sallow, jaundice-like color. I grew so weak and shaky that I could hardly put one foot ahead of the other and my back was weak and sore. I then tried several medicines without benefit, until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes showed me that they were adapted to my trouble and they entirely relieved me. I work hard every day and have never been troubled with my stomach since."

So many dyspeptics have been helped by this simple treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that every sufferer from indigestion should try it. Good digestion is impossible without a supply of rich, red blood and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually build up the blood to do this work.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., has issued a free book "What to Eat and How to Eat" that should be in every home. It gives just the information that you want regarding your diet. The company will mail Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, postpaid, at 50 cents per box or your own druggist can supply you. Do not pay more.

CIVILIANS FIRST VIEW PARADING THIRTEENTH

CAMP LEWIS DIVISION TO MARCH IN REVIEW BEFORE GEN. LEITCH TODAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMP LEWIS, Nov. 21.—Civilians tomorrow will have their first opportunity to view the entire Thirteenth Division in action when the division marches in review before Maj.-Gen. Joseph D. Leitch, commander. Parking space for automobiles and vantage points for other onlookers have been set aside. Hundreds of people are expected from Tacoma, Seattle, Olympia and other near-by cities.

The infantry units will march by Gen. Leitch in column of platoons and the line of parade will be two miles long. It will take almost an hour for the men to pass the reviewing stand. The review will begin at 10 a.m.

More men were transferred from the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Depot Brigade to divisional units on orders issued today. These men, because of the transfer, probably will have their discharges from the army delayed because the divisional units will be the last men in camp to be discharged.

President's Naon Decree Renews Criticism.

Cabinet may Resign, is Rumor as Party Splits.

Probable Resignation of President Also Suggested.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BUENOS AIRES, Wednesday, Nov. 20.—The decree issued by President Irigoyen in accepting the resignation of Dr. Romulo Naon, Argentine Ambassador to the United States, has caused a renewal of public criticism of the President's foreign policy. The political situation also is acute within the President's own party and rumors again are heard that the Cabinet will resign.

One of the subjects discussed on the street and in political circles is the probable resignation of President Irigoyen.

NAON GOING TO FRANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Argentina is in a turmoil of political excitement, according to information received here today through official channels, over the controversy aroused by the resignation of Dr. Romulo S. Naon as Ambassador to the United States, with the declaration that his government's attitude during the war had made his position in Washington impossible.

Publication of President Irigoyen's decree accepting the resignation and replying to the Ambassador's criticisms apparently has stirred the situation almost to the stage of violence, and relations of the President with members of his own party are reported anything but harmonious.

Dr. Naon's friends are said to be organizing to support him for the Presidency with the present government's failure to bring the nation into the war on the side of the Allies as the issue, although the next Presidential campaign is nearly four years off.

Dr. Naon, who still is in Washington, announced a few days ago that he expected to be in Paris during the peace conference, and then would return home.

The text of President Irigoyen's decree was received by cable at the embassy here today and a copy of the decision was made public without comment. It discloses what cabled abstracts did not indicate—that the President specifically charged that the only proposal bearing on international relations submitted by Dr. Naon during his last visit to Buenos Aires, was that advantage be taken of the exemptions and benefits afforded the Allies by Argentina in order to obtain reciprocal material advantages.

"A suggestion," says the decree of this date, "which was repudiated by the government owing to the fact that it perverted the character of those benefits, in view of their having been inspired by eminently altruistic spirit and solidarity with the peoples to whom they were granted."

As already shown by press dispatches, the decree denies that the government prevented closer relations between Argentina and the United States, and declares that Dr. Naon could not allege his dissent from that policy as a reason for resigning because he had supported it in public statements and records. It turned to Washington with the appointment of high financial commissioner, "suggested by himself as a means of giving him greater efficacy in his efforts to fulfill his mission with the American government, as his resumption of the post without loss of his dignity would otherwise be inexplicable."

It refers to proposals of the Ambassador for a neutral conference at Madrid to seek to prevent war between the United States and Germany, and later for a joint suggestion by Argentina, Chile and Colombia that Germany accept peace, both of which were rejected by the government.

After setting forth that "Your Excellency fulfills your duty as a functionary and citizen suggesting any measure which you esteem convenient, and if the government of the United States fulfills its own of accepting or rejecting it," the decree concludes:

"The resignation presented by Dr. Romulo S. Naon as Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Argentine republic to the government of the United States is hereby accepted, thanks being given to him for the services rendered to the country in his fulfillment."

PICTURES SHOW HUN DEPRAVITY

Lewd Photos on Prisoners may Explain Outrages.

Californians Suffer Slightly of Bayonet Wounds.

Germans Run When Hand-to-Hand Fighting Comes.

BY HARRY A. WILDIAMS,
The "Times" Own War Correspondent in France.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, —"We didn't want the war." This slogan appearing on a photograph taken from the first German prisoner captured by our division is an interesting souvenir of the drive. It was taken from the captured Hun by Lieut. Bob Kane of Los Angeles. The photograph was that of a group of Germans assembled at a beer party, and the banner ostensibly had been displayed as part of the celebration.

However, little importance is attached to the spirit of opposition to the war which this motto expresses. Had the Germans at that beer party expressed their attitude literally, the slogan doubtless would have read, "After four years we have decided that we didn't want the war." The whole thing in fact may have been a bit of camouflage. That the photograph should have been in possession of the first German to surrender himself to this new division may also be significant.

Many other photographs taken from prisoners indicated nothing excepted a depraved condition of mind. A surprising number of prisoners had on their persons pictures of a salacious nature—such as a man would be arrested for having in his possession in the United States. After observing their tastes in art it is easier to understand the debaucheries, excesses and outrages which marked the path of the Germans through Belgium and Northern France.

FEW BAYONET WOUNDS.

Another feature of the drive was the small number of bayonet wounds in a rather large number of casualties. I did not see one of our men with such a wound, and inquiry about the hospitals failed to show any on the records. That was because the Germans who could not get away almost invariably refused to fight at close quarters. Personally I observed only one German who had stood his ground long enough to take his chances with the cold steel. He had a thrust directly through his heart. Sergt. L. A. Eaton of Newport; Corp. Roy S. Killian of Ventura and Corp. Wade H. Erb, No. 119 West Fifty-fifth street, say that they saw Germans running as fast as their short Hun-like legs would permit them while the Americans were still from 500 to 1000 yards away. As a whole the German is a detestable bully; as a loser he is a grovelling caricature.

Capt. Randall M. Dorton, a graduate of the University of California; Lieut. Mathew H. Barrett of Scranton, Pa., and Private S. L. Solomon of Los Angeles, had almost miraculous escape from serious injury or death. They were sitting in a small dugout when a shell crashed through the roof and exploded near the center of the room. It passed directly through a bed on which Capt. Dorton had been reclining only a few seconds before. Capt. Dorton and Lieut. Barrett were untouched, while Private Solomon received only slight scratches on the cheek and forehead.

RED CROSS ACTIVE.

The Red Cross performed its important and dangerous duties in the usual efficient and courageous manner. This was true alike of doctors, ambulance drivers and stretcher bearers. Most of the time they were compelled to work under shellfire. Colin Y. Dyment, former Coast newspaper man, now with the Red Cross, hauled wounded for seventy-six hours, during which he slept only three hours.

Y.M.C.A. workers supplemented the efforts of the Red Cross by volunteering their services in helping bring in the wounded. I saw William Nelson, the division secretary, unloading wounded at Very during a heavy bombardment. Then there was Harry B. Stecker, former Los Angeles bond broker, who was in the militia until he lost an eye in an explosion.

In order to get as near the war as possible he enlisted in the Y. Starting with the drive he devoted his time entirely to conveying the wounded from first aid stations to the field hospitals. As long as it was daylight his little old Ford could be seen rattling back and forth, always loaded with wounded on its inbound trips. Its number, 152?IX, became one of the most familiar sights along this stretch of road, which was almost constantly under shellfire. During the drive he made not less than fifty round trips along this road, and handled several hundred wounded. This did not escape the attention of officers and others, who saw in it an act of sustained heroism.

PRISONERS PUSH AMBULANCE.

Once the Ford, on being overloaded with wounded, flivvered on a steep hill. A line of German prisoners happened to be passing at the time. "Take hold here and earn your grub," said Stecker, commandeering the prisoners, and soon a dozen of them were shoving the machine up the hill. I doubt whether the war has produced a more interesting picture than this of these Huns dragging an autoful of wounded Americans up a steep and slippery hill on a rainy day.

Sergt. Lloyd Seibert, former employee of the Times press room, on rubbing the powder smoke out of his eyes, asked to be remembered to Crawford and other members of the bunch who were working in the basement when he was on the job.

Private E. A. Levesque, No. 525 West Forty-second place, Los Angeles, expects to bring his pack back with him as a souvenir. Two shrapnel holes through it made it a valuable memento.

Sergt. Harry W. Just, No. 1404 South Hill street, opines that he experienced all the sensations of being killed, but says that it wasn't particularly unpleasant. A shrapnel shell burst directly over him. A piece of it scratched his leg, while a large chunk ripped his helmet wide open and rendered him unconscious. When he woke up all he could remember was the explosion that happened right over his bean, and he was surprised to find himself alive.

"In fact, when I woke up I still had a hunch that I might be dead," said Sergt. Just, "and that I might be in another world. There wasn't much feeling in me, and my limbs seemed numb. Finally, I said to myself that if I could move an arm or a leg I wasn't dead. Then I tried and found that I could wiggle all my limbs. That settled it. It proved that I was alive. This being the case, I picked up the old Springfield and went to fighting again."

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Private Fred W. Messenger, formerly in the motorcycle business in Los Angeles and Riverside, is no longer prejudiced against the practice of piling stable manure in the streets which prevails in Northern France. He was standing in one of these streets when a six-inch shell hit one of these piles. The shell, which was almost spent, did not explode, thanks to the soft landing heap. Instead, it rolled harmless down one side of it, and lodged within a few inches of his feet. True, it may have been some sort of a time shell which exploded later, but Messenger did not remain to investigate. It is a wise soldier who does not monkey with supposed duds.

Private W. E. Rathbun, who formerly teased the juice out of a motor on the front of a Los Angeles Railway car, sustained an honorable wound in one trouser leg and had his pack punctured.

Private Albert E. Deane, No. 741 Temple street, who was the fifth man drafted from Los Angeles, was not particularly pleased at the time, but now believes that he drew a lucky number. He was singed on all sides by bullets, but none of them so much as scraped him.

Sergt. W. P. Stratton, No. 1554 Le Moyne street, Los Angeles, did not merely get a hole through his pack. It was blown clear off, leaving him entirely without bedding and rations.

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden; a hindrance to activity, a curb upon pleasure. You can take off the fat where it shows by taking after each meal and at bedtime, one Marmola Prescription Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous prescription from which they take their name. Buy and try a case today. Your druggist sells them at 75 cents or if you prefer you may write direct to the Marmola Co., 364 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. You can thus say good-bye to dieting, exercise and fat.

The annual meeting of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau will be held in Room 359, Courthouse, December 19. This date was fixed yesterday by the board of directors. Need Many Nurses.

A call for women to accept positions as nurses has been sent out by the City Mother's Bureau, Room 310 Normal Hill Center. On account of influenza conditions the call for nurses to assist in the homes of the sick has far exceeded the supply. These positions pay from $18 to $25 a week, and applicants need not be graduate nurses, as common sense and a reasonable experience in caring for the sick and willingness are the chief requirements.

Girl is Missing.

Mrs. H. O. Betsworth, No. 1729 New Hampshire street, yesterday appeared to the police to search for her 13-year-old daughter, Bessie, who did not return home from a trip made to the beach Tuesday night with a girl chum and two boy companions. The last seen of Bessie by her friends, she was speeding toward San Diego in an automobile with a top sergeant from Camp Kearny. The name of the soldier is withheld, but it is in the hands of the military authorities.

DISCUSS EMPLOYMENT FOR RETURNED TROOPS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—An address by George E. Dickie of Washington, national director of the field department, War Camp Community Service, featured the session of Western State executives of the service here today.

The meeting was called to consider the returning of demobilized soldiers to industry in the cities and towns, and is presided over by A. E. Carter of Oakland, western representative of the service. Sessions will continue until Saturday.

Representatives are present from California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada.

HOLD BANK EXAMINER IN VERMONT SCANDAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTPELIER (Vt.) Nov. 21.—A grand jury indictment against Frank C. Williams, State Bank Commissioner, alleging malfeasance in office, was made public here today. The indictment was returned in connection with the investigation of charges involving the accounts of the former State Auditor, Horace F. Graham, who is now Governor.

Williams's trial will precede by three months that of Gov. Graham, who appeared in court yesterday to answer indictments alleging larceny and embezzlement of State funds while he was Auditor.

OPEN EYE, EAR STILL NEEDED.

Patriotic Citizens Urged to Watch for Disloyalty.

Serious Consequences Would Follow Withdrawal Now.

Attorney-General Asks Ceaseless Vigilance by All.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Atty.-Gen. Gregory in a letter today to the national directors of the American Protective League called on officers and members of that organization to continue their effective aid and co-operation with the Department of Justice. They were asked especially to watch for and report illegal activities harmful to the public morale during the discussion of peace terms.

"I feel it my duty at the present juncture," said the Attorney-General's letter, "to call upon the officers and members of the American Protective League throughout the country to carry on steadfastly for the present their most effective aid and co-operation with the Department of Justice.

"The sudden termination of hostilities has reacted strongly upon the public and there is everywhere evident a desire on the part of patriotic citizens, heretofore intent upon winning the war, to withdraw immediately from war work. Such a course, if generally followed, would involve serious consequences.

"The American Protective League has performed a great task, both in active and passive service. The number of investigations participated in by you, many of which have resulted in the uncovering of serious enemy activities and disloyalties, and the apprehension and prosecution of the individuals concerned, the large number of draft evaders detected, and your many other activities, have been an important factor in winning the war.

"A service of equal value has been the passive but powerful influence exerted by your organization upon alien enemies and disloyal persons. The knowledge upon their part that everywhere about them were the eyes and ears of a great organization auxiliary to the government, raised a fear in their hearts as to the consequences of hostile action, and became a powerful deterrent of enemy and disloyal activities.

"These services cannot yet be dispensed with. Illegal activities harmful to the public morale during the discussion of peace terms must be watched for and reported. Violations of the war statutes, all of which are still in force, must be prosecuted. Pending investigations must be continued and others instituted.

"I sincerely trust that in view of these grave considerations, your members will be aroused to the need of carrying on your work for the immediate future with the fullest degree of efficiency. I earnestly ask your continued aid and co-operation."

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Cleanses the little liver and bowels and they get well quick.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels, no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

LOST IN WEIGHT DURING TROUBLE
Churma Was Going Down Hill Rapidly.
Takes Tanlac and Health is Restored.
Declares He Now Feels Like New Man.

"I'm simply feeling like a different man since I began taking Tanlac," said Charlie Churma, Jr., of 123 Farallones St., San Francisco, recently, "and everybody is talking about how much better I'm looking." Mr. Churma was for many years employed by the United Railways of San Francisco, but for something over a year now he has been employed at the Bethlehem Shipyards.

"Just about one year and three months ago," he continued, "I weighed around two hundred pounds, but since that time I have fallen off, as a result of stomach trouble, until I only weighed one hundred and fifty and hardly looked like myself any more. I was continually having attacks of indigestion. My food would sour and the gas formed by it would bloat me all up and cause severe pain in my stomach and right side. My liver was sluggish and inactive and I had awful dizzy spells. My blood seemed to rush to my head and I would get so dizzy I would have to grab hold of something to keep from falling. I was habitually constipated, and got so I couldn't rest at night, and what little sleep I did get was so disturbed by bad dreams that it seemed to do me no good. For a month or so, before I began taking Tanlac, I was troubled with something like lumbago. My back across my kidneys hurt me terribly and it just seemed to me I was losing out in every way.

"One day I was telling one of the boys at the shipyard that I had no appetite and just felt 'all in,' and he told me to get a bottle of Tanlac, saying that his sister-in-law was taking it and that she had gained eleven pounds in just a short time. So, on my way home that night, I got a bottle and I'm certainly glad I did, for it helped me from the very first few doses. My appetite picked up and the first thing I knew my stomach had stopped bothering me entirely. No matter now what I eat, or how much, I never have any trouble from it. I haven't had any of those dizzy spells either, since I started on Tanlac, and I have never found anything as good for constipation as those Tanlac Laxative Tablets. The pains have all left my sides and back and nobody has anything on me when it comes to sleeping. I get nine hours' good sound sleep every night and get up in the mornings feeling like a new man. I have more strength and energy and can do my work without getting tired like I did. I haven't weighed, but I know I have picked up considerably for everyone I meet up with has something to say about how much stouter and better I'm looking. I am telling others about Tanlac every chance I get for it certainly will build a fellow up in fine shape."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Company, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—[Advertisement.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—[Reported by Furd A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.06; at 5 p.m., 30.03. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 55 deg. and 71 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 62 per cent.; 5 p.m., 39 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 8 miles; 5 p.m., northwest, velocity 13 miles. Highest temperature, 77 deg.; lowest, 54 deg. Rainfall for season, 2.64 inches; last season, .36 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The barometer is high over the entire country this morning, with the center of the high pressure area over Montana. Fair and cooler weather has resulted generally from the influence of this high area, the isotherm of 30 deg. reaching southward to Oklahoma and Texas. As a result, heavy rain occurred on the Texas coast, and local precipitation occurred in the North Atlantic States, in Tennessee, Colorado and Montana. Fair weather prevails in southern California, and will continue during the next thirty-six hours.

ORIENTALS MAY URGE END OF RACE BARRIER

CHINA AND JAPAN ASKED TO PAPERS TO RAISE ISSUE AT PEACE PARLEY.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

TOKIO, Wednesday, Nov. 21.—Japanese newspapers are suggesting that Japan and China raise the race question at the forthcoming peace conference with the object of reaching an agreement to the effect that in the future there shall be no further racial discrimination throughout the world.

A Japanese delegation including representatives of the War, Navy and Foreign ministries, and various experts, will soon embark at a Japanese port on a warship bound for the peace conference by way of the United States.

No announcement has yet been made as to whether the chief of the plenipotentiaries will be sent from Japan. The opposition party is urging the nomination of Viscount Takaaki Kato, former Foreign Minister, as head of the delegation.

If the chief of the plenipotentiaries is not chosen from among the statesmen now in Japan, it is most likely that Sutemi Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, or Kichitiro Mateui, the Ambassador to France will represent Japan at the council.

Japanese subordinates to attend the peace conference about to be held in Japan include Vice-Admiral Heisuke Takebita, who was a naval delegate to the Russo-Japanese peace conference at Portsmouth in 1905, and Gen. Takeji Nara, Chief of Staff of the Japanese garrison in Tsing Tao, on the Shantung peninsula in China.

FRENCH MAY ABANDON FAVORED NATION RULE

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—(Havas.) The Parliamentary Commerce Committee today heard a preliminary outline by Senator Jules Siegfried of the general principles of the future economic programme of France.

The committee adopted unanimously a resolution expressing the belief that the most favored nation clause in the matter of tariffs should not be included in future commercial conventions.

NEW WAR FRAUD CHARGED.

Alleged Fugitive from Justice Arrested by Federal Officers Here.

Charged with being a fugitive from justice, wanted in New York under indictment returned last Tuesday alleging fraud in connection with a Jewish war fund, Harry Lefkovits was arrested late last night at the Hoffman apartments, No. 924 West Washington street, by Postoffice Inspector C. E. Webster and Deputy United States Marshal W. E. Cavanah. It is alleged that Lefkovits used the mails to further his scheme. Federal officials say he operated in April, 1917. He advertised he would turn over to the Jewish Relief Commission for War Sufferers the proceeds from the sale of 50,000 shares of Magma Mines Company stock at 50 cents each. The company was advertised as a copper proposition at Magma, Ariz.

Lefkovits is said to have disposed of stock to a large number of people who were attracted by his seemingly patriotic offer. The money was deposited in his own name in the Battery Park National Bank, New York. None of it was turned over to the Jewish Relief Commission, it is alleged, and Lefkovits is accused of drawing it all out a few days ago and absconding with it.

FORBES'S TRAIL UNFOLDING

Slain Bandit Positively Identified as One of Culver City Bank Robbers.

Positive identification of Charles Bell (Dale Jones,) the bandit who, with his consort, Marie or Margie Bell, was killed by Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet during a gun battle at Arcadia Tuesday night, as being a member of the gang who held up and robbed the Culver City Bank last winter, was made yesterday by Cashier J. J. Bryant saw the dead bandit at the inquest which was held in Monrovia.

He could never have forgotten that face, Mr. Bryant told Deputy Sheriff Webster. "It isn't every day that you are held up, and when one is in little likelihood of forgetting the face of the man behind the gun." The coroner's jury consisting of H. Hansen, foreman; J. A. Crandall, Fred Menge, C. P. Carpenter, J. Hansen and T. W. Patton, at the morgue in Monrovia, came in a verdict that the Celano woman and Forbes came to their deaths from a bullet wound of the brain inflicted by W. J. Anderson, deputy sheriff, in justifiable homicide."

Several hundred people gathered at the morgue, but owing to the flu ban by the Coroner's jury, witnesses and newspaper men were admitted.

GIRL A "HOUSEWIFE."

The first witness called was a sister of the dead bandit woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Niemeyer of No. 5127 Compton avenue, Los Angeles, who gave her occupation as a telephone girl. She stated that her sister's name was Margie Celano and that her age was 21, housewife by occupation; that she had not seen her sister for six or seven months, but had received several letters from her and a post card dated from Albuquerque, in which she stated she was married to a man by the name of Dean.

Mrs. Leslie Krebs, who was in charge of the White Oaks oil station in Arcadia, where the tragedy occurred, stated that twenty minutes after 6 o'clock last Tuesday the couple drove up to the station. The Celano woman alighted and purchased some chocolates and then rejoined her companion in the car. Mrs. Krebs signaled the officers in hiding that this was the woman bandit. In the meantime Forbes backed his car up and purchased some gasoline from Mrs. Krebs; after loading his tanks with five gallons and paying for it, he started for the car. The officers then ran around the station and the battle was on.

W. J. Anderson, deputy sheriff, stated that Mrs. Krebs had been shown photographs of the bandits some weeks ago. She had recognized them and informed the officers that they had come there last winter for auto supplies. About ten days ago they reappeared and she notified the officials. Anderson and his partner, Deputy George Van Vliet, stationed themselves back of the oil station, awaiting their reappearance. They commenced this vigil last Saturday. The officer's description of the gun fight Tuesday evening brought out no new facts except that the Celano woman fired three shots. He recognized Forbes as a former prisoner in the Juvenile Court about three years ago. Anderson stated that he fired four shots, two at the man and

It is now proposed by Sheriff Cline, if legally possible, to sell the guns and other property of the Forbes gang and give the proceeds to the widow and children of the officer they slew. Any reward will also go to them, it is expected.

COYLE ADMITS HIS GUILT.

Vernon Bandit Prefers Life Term as a Robber to Gallows as Murderer.

After a six months' legal battle where his counsel took advantage of every technicality in order to save his client from the gallows, Henry J. Coyle yesterday entered a plea of guilty to a charge of robbing R. G. Knoll of No. 737 East Washington street on April 24, last. The plea was entered after an understanding had been made with the District Attorney's office whereby a charge of murder would be dropped and the defendant accept a life sentence in San Quentin.

Coyle, while a member of a gang of highwaymen who terrorized the southern part of the city last spring, engaged in the hold-up of the saloon of Cadet Ybarra in Vernon on April 24. As the customers were being lined up against the wall Chief of Police Harris entered and immediately opened fire on the robbers. One bandit fell dead from a bullet from Harris's gun and another fled. Coyle is said to have returned the shots, one of which struck and killed William Griffith, a bartender. The slain bandit was never identified, but it was proved that he was one of the gang which had held up Knoll a few hours previous. Coyle was also identified by Knoll, which lead to his being implicated in the saloon robbery and murder.

Superior Judge Craig set next Monday for passing sentence. The prosecution was represented by Deputy District Attorney Shelley and Georgia P. Bullock. This was the first appearance of Mrs. Bullock in the criminal courtrooms since her appointment to Dist.-Atty. Woolwine's staff.

'FLU GOES DOWN AGAIN.

Yesterday registered another sharp decline in influenza, when seventy-one fewer cases were reported than for the day previous. At the present rate of decrease, it is believed that by tomorrow the Health Commissioner may be able to set a definite date for the lifting of the ban by the City Council. This, however, say the health authorities, does not mean that the public in general is to relax vigilance in any way. Upon the manner in which the public handles the situation, they declare, depends the eradication of the disease.

On Tuesday the number of cases reported was 812, on Wednesday the number dropped to 455, and yesterday they were 384. Of these, 370 were reported as influenza alone and fourteen as influenza with pneumonia. This is the lowest figure for reported new cases since early in the epidemic, though it is believed that not more than about 200 of the cases were actually new yesterday. Many cases are reported as far back as a month ago.

What was most indicative of the decline of the epidemic, according to the health authorities, was the drop in the number of deaths. Yesterday a total of thirty deaths were reported, of which sixteen were for influenza, ten for influenza and pneumonia and four for pneumonia.

The average death rate per day for the first five days of this week shows a marked decrease, compared to the first five days of last week. During that period for last week there were 232 deaths, while for this week the total for the first five days was only 147. This gives a daily average for last week of 46.4, and for this week, 29.4.

At the present rate of decrease in the number of cases the total number of cases for the week will show at least 900 less than last week. So far this week 2250 cases have been reported, and last week a total of 3964 was reported.

Postponement of the opening of the Liberty Fair until the complete lifting of the influenza ban was announced yesterday by the directors of the fair, after two meetings. Even if there is a partial lifting of the ban permitting public gatherings if persons attend them masked, the fair will not open under those conditions.

All of the exhibits of the fair are in readiness, and special patriotic features are being arranged, so that the exhibition will be in fact a victory fair as well as a Liberty Fair. Work on the buildings and grounds continues.

Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, yesterday issued a permit for the opening of the theaters in Torrance. In that city influenza has practically disappeared. Permission has been given to reopen the schools at Jefferson, Lawndale, El Segundo, Inglewood, Ludo, Ranchito, Belle Vernon and Wiseburn. Next week permits will be issued in the Covina district. The pupils in these schools must first undergo medical examination.

FRENCH MISSION COMING.

Fourteen French officials, headed by Commandant Rinck, as a representative of the French government, will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow. The distinguished party is on its way from New York, and will register at the Van Nuys Hotel, according to a telegram from Assistant Manager Ray of the Vanderbilt Hotel, where the French officials were staying prior to their departure for the Pacific Coast.

No official announcement has been made regarding the destination of the party or the business of the mission. The reservations at the Van Nuys are for one night only. It is understood the party is on its way to a Northern Pacific port.

The French officials are expected here over the Salt Lake at 5:30 o'clock. They left New York November 17.

BEACH MAYOR DEAD.

William E. Smith was One of Manhattan's Trustees Ever Since City was Incorporated.

Mayor William E. Smith of Manhattan Beach died at the Angelus Hospital in this city at 3:40 o'clock yesterday morning. He was brought to the hospital several weeks ago to undergo an operation, but the doctors decided that one would be useless.

Mayor Smith was 63 years old and had been a resident of Manhattan Beach for more than twenty years. He was a member of the Board of Trustees ever since that city became incorporated six years ago, and was Mayor of the city about a year. Arrangements for the funeral will probably be under the direction of the Masonic Lodge. He was born in Scotland, and leaves a widow, Mrs. Mattie Smith. He had been engaged in the real estate and insurance business.

CHINESE ADMIT GUILT.

Soo Kan and Soo Hoo Sing, two Oxnard Chinese, pleaded guilty in United States District Judge Bledsoe's court, yesterday, to having three cans of smoking opium in their possession, and were each given a sentence of eighteen months in the Federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island, with a fine of $500. The stuff was a part of a shipment of 100 five-tael cans recently received in San Francisco.

WANT IT STILL "WESTLAKE."

Many Residents Object to Proposed Change to Lafayette Park.

Opposition to the action of the City Council in deciding to change the name of Westlake Park to Lafayette Park developed yesterday among many business men and residents of the Westlake district. E. C. Jussurun, owner and manager of the Westlake Terrace Hotel, was active in the opposition movement and began the circulation of petitions protesting against the Council's plan and asking for a hearing.

It was pointed out by Mr. Jussurun and others that the name Westlake attaches not only to the park, but to the entire district and to many business houses and is a valuable property asset. To change the name, he said, would mean a heavy financial loss to many persons living there. The case, he contends, is entirely different from that of Central (now Pershing) Square, which name means nothing apart from the square itself.

REPORT CLEARS JUVENILE HALL.

Investigators Find Charges of Parents Unfounded.

Ottaman Zar Adusht Ha'nish Case is Revived.

Detention of Children Said to Have been Justified.

A favorable report of a committee consisting of Cora Deal Lewis and Mary L. Trowbridge, appointed to investigate charges by Arthur F. Gault and others reflecting on the conduct and management of Juvenile Hall, was filed with the Supervisors yesterday and will be considered today at an open hearing.

Mr. Gault is the father of Alfreda Linda Gault, one of several young girls alleged to have been mistreated by Dr. Ottaman Zar Adusht Ha'nish, teacher of the Masdaznan cult. Dr. Ha'nish left the city several months ago and apparently cannot be found. The girls were taken to Juvenile Hall and examined. At these examinations, the parents assert they were not permitted to be present and that in one or more instances the result of the physical examination was a permanent injury.

The specific charges are that a warrant was issued instead of a citation to bring the children into court; that the court fixed the bail and did not notify the parents; that the cases were not brought before the court promptly; that the court by reason of multitudinous duties, could not keep the cases of the children constantly in mind.

COMPLAINT OF PARENTS.

It is further charged that the probation officers directed their energies toward getting derogatory statements about Dr. Ha'nish; that the children were held in Juvenile Hall as witnesses; that they were compelled to mingle with older children and hear vile, obscene and profane language.

In the case of Angelica Sandberg, it is charged that her parents were denied the right to see her. When Sophia Tilton was examined by Dr Muriel D. Cass, Juvenile Hall physician, it is declared that neither the child's mother nor a physician was allowed to be present. The parents of Angelica Sandberg complain that the girl was injured by reason of the alleged negligence of Dr. Cass. Andrea Austin, another child, is said to have received permanent injury by her examination.

The committee reported to the Supervisors that a number of the charges are not supported by the evidence. In other instances there is some truth in the charges due to the crowded condition of Juvenile Hall.

SOME OF FINDINGS.

The charge is found true that Dr. Miriam Van Waters refused parents the opportunity of seeing the children until after the hearing in Juvenile Court. This was on the instruction of the District Attorney and also at the suggestion of the probation department.

It is also found that the judge of the Juvenile Court was cognizant of this and confirmed it. After the children were released from Juvenile Hall, the report states, they changed their testimony and contradicted themselves as to the facts.

"Detention in Juvenile Hall would seem to indicate that this order was justified under the circumstances," says the report.

Dr. Cass is not an employee of Juvenile Hall. Suits are pending involving the question of her alleged negligence in conducting the examination of the children. Examination and segregation were necessary, the report continues, on humanitarian grounds. The committee praises the management of Juvenile Hall under the direction of Dr. Van Waters.

"The lack of definite charges is due to the efficient administration of Juvenile Hall," the report declares.

TWO WOMEN FINED.

One's the Wife of Police Officer, and Both Had Merry Night at Venice.

The wife of a Los Angeles police officer was fined $25 for disturbing the peace by Police Judge King at Santa Monica yesterday. Her companion, wife of another Los Angeles man, received a $50 fine for driving a car while intoxicated. A male companion was let off with a $20 fine.

According to the story told the court by Mrs. Mildred Van Law, she and Mrs. J. E. Hall motored to Venice from Los Angeles Wednesday evening. They ran across Frank Barrios, a chef. Ray Pitcher, police sergeant, stated he found the party quarreling on Pier avenue. After some parley he took them to the police station.

Mrs. Emma Leavitt, police matron, said that she had difficulty in caring for Mrs. Hall, who stripped the covers off the mattress and hurled the coffee through the grating when the matron tried to help her.

TRIES TO KILL SELF.

James Steele, 57, yesterday attempted suicide at El Segundo by cutting his throat. He was brought to the Receiving Hospital in the Standard Oil Company ambulance and the trachea and external jugulars sutured by Assistant Police Surgeon Goodrich, who declares there is a chance of the patient living. No reason is known for the old man's act. He was staying with his daughter, Mrs. Norma Stephens, whose husband is in charge of the pipe shaft at El Segundo. Steele also has a son in this city, W. H. Steele of No. 338 Manhattan place, and three sons in Canada.

SEES WORLD PORT HERE.

International Shipping Expert Advises More Exports and Cheap Power.

Greater dock facilities, distributing warehouses at tidewater, expanding of the arteries of communication, development of cheap power, manufacturing of our own exports and the building of ships form the sequence necessary to make of Los Angeles a world port and of her fleet a maritime factor in the commerce of the world, in the opinion of Bernard Nadal Baker, shipbuilder, international transport expert, government adviser and author, who has been visiting in Los Angeles.

Bernard Nadal Baker, a man who knows more about the shipping industry of the United States than almost anyone else, in whose fertile imagination first sprung the seed which afterwards developed into the Shipping Board, and who was called upon by the President to guide the government over the early shoals which beset that organization, and to which it almost succumbed following Mr. Baker's withdrawal from the board, has been spending a few days in Los Angeles.

Prior to his return to his winter home at Montecito last evening, Mr. Baker met informally with a few of the members of the Chamber of Commerce directorate, with whom he discussed the shipping problems of Southern California. He was also entertained by Bishop Johnson at luncheon.

Mr. Baker, who for many years was at the head of the Atlantic Transport Company before disposing of his interests to J. P. Morgan, recalled a previous visit to this city and the Chamber of Commerce in September, 1911. "If the plans I urged at that time had been adopted," he said, "the investments would have returned 25 per cent. per annum in clear profit and $3 for every dollar invested, and Los Angeles would have had a greater total tonnage at the beginning of the war than was actually owned and operated in our overseas trade. Tonnage then could have been built for $40 per ton. Now it costs $200."

The distinguished visitor can see no insurmountable reason why Los Angeles should not become a great shipbuilding center, but he warns against the danger of the "one-legged haul." That is, ships to be operated profitably must ply between ports which insure return cargoes. Our trade with South America may be well worth while, but we must be sure that South America has something to send back after Los Angeles ships have unloaded their cargoes in the ports of the southern seas.

"Develop your exports," is Mr. Baker's advice, and hand in hand with that suggestion goes another, "develop cheap electrical power. Harness your mountain streams and make them work. It costs large sums of money to transport oil or coal, or any other fuel; transportation that should be used for other things. Electrical current comes over a small wire and in great force. With the power question solved there is no reason why smelters should not be built at our ports; other manufacturing establishments would follow as of course, and Southern California would not longer be dependent upon the East for something to sell excepting fruits and food.

"I have not been to San Pedro for several years," said Mr. Baker, "but the development of that port should go on. I understand that wonderful things have already been accomplished, but with plenty of dredges and cement, there is no limit to the possibilities. The port of Dover, Eng., was once an open roadstead. Terminal distributing warehouses should be constructed so that multiplied handling of goods may be avoided.

"Los Angeles must establish communication with the other ports of the world. There will be much competition, but good harbors are scarce, and those which have something real to offer will have the inside track. Let the work be permanent. Avoid slip-shod construction and methods. Build for the future, and, although the trend of our merchant marine is still uncertain, with proper attention to details, shipbuilding in Los Angeles will become one of the great industries of this part of the country.

"In developing your port, care must be taken to expand the connecting arteries so that there will be at all times ample outlet for both exports and imports. Build a class of ships that can be operated with profit. These should be of steel and not less than 10,000 tons dead weight. Train your young men to appreciate the advantages of seafaring. Get the vision and then make it come true. This means the establishment of a foreign trade with North and South America and the Orient; it means the creation of a merchant marine of our own; it means the development of home-made exports; it means the enlargement of our ports; it means more and bigger business for Los Angeles.

"Climatic conditions here are excellent for shipbuilding, and this enters very largely into the cost. Food, clothing and housing can be more economically managed than in the East, and the work can go forward without interruption throughout the year. Be careful that your tonnage is not overproduced, for there is more to establishing a merchant marine than building a ship and starting it for somewhere, but with ably, comprehensive direction, Los Angeles has much to expect as a world seaport."

SELL LOOT FOR VICTIMS.

two at the woman. He used a sawed-off shotgun and said he gave them all the chance he could to surrender before he fired a shot.

NIEMEYER'S STORY.

Raymond H. Niemeyer, brother-in-law of Forbes, stated that he only knew the dead man by the name of Charles Forbes and that he had formerly been a jitney driver in Los Angeles. He had not seen him for three years and then had only met him through a visit to the Juvenile Hall, when Forbes had given his age as 17. Forbes claimed to have come from Missouri. He could not tell how Forbes had become acquainted with his wife's sister. Niemeyer is now working at the shipyards and showed keenly his distaste of the position he was placed in. He knew little of Forbes's previous history, but had heard that he was an all-around crook.

It developed from other sources that Forbes was under medical treatment with Dr. H. F. Kirchner of Monrovia for incipient tuberculosis.

The body of the Celano girl shows that she met death with a defiant snarl on her face. She was far from comely. Her ears bore a set of imitation mother-of-pearl earrings, and her jet black hair hung loosely over her shoulders. She received a gunshot wound through the right temple and through her right shoulder. The bullet that killed Forbes entered the back of his skull slightly to the left. There were also several wounds through his right shoulder. Both bodies appeared somewhat emaciated.

TREASURE HUNT.

While investigators working on the case admitted that they had made no progress in finding the cache of loot believed to have been in the possession of Jones at the time of his death, yet they believe that it will shortly be uncovered. Every bank and safety deposit vault in this city, Pasadena and other towns is being investigated in the hope that some trace of it may be found. Yesterday a squad of deputy sheriffs visited the home of the bandit at No. 90 Sierra avenue, Sierra Madre, and again went over the premises, believing that the loot may be secreted in the house. A portion of the cellar was dug up, and the house ransacked from garret to basement.

Believing that the hidden loot in cash may be in a local safe deposit box, the Pinkertons are examining all records of boxes rented since the arrival of Forbes and the Celano girl, supposedly the latter part of May. There is another theory that Forbes may have used one or two local friends as bankers, and when these friends are located, the money will be found.

The Cadillac roadster, it is believed as the result of telegrams received by the Sheriff's office, was stolen in Kansas after the couple had driven a Marmon roadster, they had stolen, into a river. Tools found in the house at Sierra Madre showed that they not alone changed State license tags, but that they changed engine numbers to conceal the fact that their cars were stolen ones.

VAN VLIET FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Presbyterian Church at Covina. Rev. Paul Stevens of Pasadena will officiate, and interment will take place at Pomona. Business in Covina will be practically suspended during the funeral. Sheriff Cline will be present with most of his force.

Mr. Van Vliet had been a resident of Covina for twenty years, the greater part of which time he had served as a constable and a deputy sheriff. He leaves a widow and three children, Richard, Kenneth and Betty. He had been known as a devoted husband and affectionate father, delighting to spend an hour or so playing with the children when he returned home from his work as a deputy sheriff.

The pallbearers will be Deputy Sheriffs Lips, Hotz, Strong, Manning, Anderson and Dennison. Many floral pieces have already been sent.

Sheriff Cline yesterday extolled the qualities of Deputy Van Vliet, and stated that his office will see to it that the family of the slain officer wants for nothing.

"If it is possible, I am going to sell every effect of the dead bandits and donate the proceeds from the sale to Mrs. Van Vliet," he said yesterday afternoon. "I am not sure that this can be done, but Forbes kept his identity secret for years and we are not trying now to unearth any relatives or heirs."

Whether Forbes and his consort will be buried in Potter's Field is not known as yet. It is believed that relatives of the woman will not see her remains committed to the county burying grounds. It is reported that some unknown individual has offered sufficient money to bury Forbes.

MARRIED AT GATE CITY.

Definite evidence that Forbes and Marie Celano were married at San Bernardino on May 4 of this year was found yesterday in the records of that city. They drove up to the door of the residence of the Rev. L. J. Milliken, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church, and asked to be married. Forbes produced a marriage license he had secured that day in the town under the names of Dale D. Jones, 21 years old, of Kentucky, and Jewel M. Celano, 20, New York. Forbes gave the minister a liberal fee and they drove away in their automobile. The minister said yesterday that he noticed nothing unusual about the couple; they seemed to be two young people, well dressed, and cared for each other.

Deputy Sheriff Zehner stated yesterday that the bullet which killed Van Vliet was probably fired by Forbes. As Van Vliet was approaching the car from the rear it would have been impossible for the woman seated in the machine to have fired the shot which killed him, as she would have had to fire through the back of the car. While Deputy Sheriff Anderson was wounded twice by bullets from the rifle in the hands of the girl, neither proved more than a mere scratch. The machine which was in possession of the bandits is now being held by the Sheriff office. It is believed that when the ownership of it is established, more of the bandit activities of Forbes in Southern California will become known.

ANOTHER JOB.

The robbery of the F. M. Stewart filling station at Monrovia Wednesday evening is believed to have been the work of another member of the gang. The cash register was taken away bodily, with its contents, so that it could be broken open at leisure. It contained about $50 in cash, and valves, tire testers and other articles that brought the total loss up to more than $100.

Four men in a big seven-passenger car drove up to the filling station at the corner of Myrtle avenue and Huntington drive, late in the afternoon, and made a pretense of filling a tire with air, seeking several pretexts for Mrs. Stewart to leave the station to examine the air pump, which they claimed was not working properly. All were stout men, except one, she said, who appeared to be very nervous. He was tall and thin, and wore a cap and brown suit. She could not recall the dress of the other members of the party, except that they also wore caps.

The man suspected of the actual robbery had appeared at the station early in the afternoon. He hung about at the near-by corner, and it was thought by Mrs. Stewart that he was waiting for a stage. Shortly before the arrival of the car bearing the four men, he disappeared. Ten minutes after that vehicle had left, the register was gone.

The lounger is described as being tall, straight and broad shouldered wearing dark clothes, with a cap pulled down over his eyes, and his collar turned up, light complexioned and smooth faced. The description is said to closely tally with that of the stranger seen in the yard of the Sierra Madre house occupied by the bandit couple.

OUTSIDE LAWYER IS NOT IMMUNE.

MAY BE SERVED WITH SUMMONS, STATE SUPREME COURT HOLDS.

Holding that an attorney who is not of record in a case, and who has not been admitted to practice in the court where he seeks to appear, has no right to avail himself of the law that protects lawyers from service of summons in civil cases, the State Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the lower court, where Edward Byrnes, a Chicago attorney, appealed from an order of the Superior Court refusing to quash service of summons upon him in a suit brought by Henry Tadge of Imperial county against George S. Kunihiro. The action involved the operations of the alleged cantaloupe trust, wherein Tadze had a summons served upon Byrnes as one of the defendant parties.

Byrnes had come to Los Angeles to prepare demurrers and motions in the cases of Kunihiro against Lyons Bros. and Kunihiro against M. O. Coggins Company of Chicago, and while here he was served with a summons to answer in the Imperial county case. Byrnes claimed that he was immune from the service of summons, as he was an attorney, and had come to Los Angeles only to prepare the pleadings.

The Supreme Court decision will be of interest to the legal profession, as defining their rights in similar cases.

GIVES THEM ADVICE.

Higher Court Says in Divorce Decision That Elderly Pair Should Be Celebrating, Not Fighting.

With the statement that the couple should have been celebrating the fortieth anniversary of their wedding, instead of indulging in divorce proceedings, the State Supreme Court yesterday, affirmed the judgment of the lower court that denied John C. Stedman, a divorce from Lillie Steadman, on account of desertion.

The lower court held that the evidence was insufficient without proper corroboration, and the court of last appeal joined in that view of the case.

Prominent Business Name on List of Accused.

Following several months' investigation by Deputy District Attorney Clark into the working of a ring of alleged straw bondsmen, he announced yesterday that complaints charging perjury will be issued today against fourteen men who, he says, have within the last year falsely sworn to owning certain property and thereby enabling several notorious criminals to escape justice by jumping worthless bonds.

Already this week two convictions on charges of perjury resulting from the same investigation have been made in the criminal courts, E. J. Swann being convicted before Judge Craig on Tuesday and A. J. Snead last Thursday before Judge Willis. One of the complaints will be made against W. L. Meggs, now in the County Jail awaiting trial on charges of forgery.

Investigation into the activities of straw bondsmen began several months ago, when Edgar N. Frost, now serving time in San Quentin, pleaded guilty to charges of perjury. He was alleged to have been the head of a ring of professionals who defrauded the county out of thousands of dollars.

One of the complaints which will be issued is said to be against a prominent business man of this city, but it is admitted that this may be a case of another assuming this man's name. Identification will only be possible, it is said, by securing the services of handwriting experts.

While fourteen cases have already been prepared, it is said that before the investigation ends there will be nearly thirty men facing trial on charges of perjury.

FIVE HELD FOR MURDER.

Mexicans Said to Have Admitted Taking Part in Rock Fight on Night Man was Killed.

Five young Mexicans are held in the City Jail on suspicion of murder, in connection with the death of Antonio Perez, who was struck on the head with a cobblestone early Monday morning. A Coroner's jury at the mortuary of Peck & Chase yesterday decided that Perez came to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown, and L. Valenzuela, who had been arrested in connection with the death, was released.

The five men taken into custody yesterday are Joe Garcia, Manuel Martinez, Joe Flores, David Gonzales and Manel Mercado. They confessed to taking part in a rock fight following a booze party on the night Perez was injured, the police say.

ASKS SEPARATE SUPPORT.

Mrs. Stella Ball yesterday filed suit for separate maintenance against Frank Ball, a shipbuilder, alleging that he is spending the $7.50 a day he receives in "riotous living." She claims that there is due Mr. Ball $400 in salary, and she asks for an order restraining his employers from paying him the money until the suit is determined. The grocery bill for $100 is unpaid, Mrs. Ball claims.

What Determines Meat and Live-Stock Prices?

Some stock men still think that Swift & Company—and other big packers—can pay as little for live-stock as they wish.

Some consumers are still led to believe that the packers can charge as much for dressed meat as they wish.

This is not true. These prices are fixed by a law of human nature as old as human nature itself—the law of supply and demand.

When more people want meat than there is meat to be had, the scramble along the line to get it for them sends prices up. When there is more meat than there are people who want it, the scramble all along the line to get rid of it within a few days, while it is still fresh, sends prices down.

When prices of meat go up, Swift & Company not only can pay the producer more, but has to pay him more, or some other packer will.

Similarly, when prices recede all down the line Swift & Company cannot continue to pay the producer the same prices as before, and still remain in the packing business.

All the packer can do is to keep the expense of turning stock into meat at a minimum, so that the consumer can get as much as possible for his money, and the producer as much as possible for his live-stock.

Thanks to its splendid plants, modern methods, branch houses, car routes, fleet of refrigerator cars, experience and organization, Swift & Company is able to pay for live cattle 90 per cent of what it receives for beef and by-products, and to cover expense of production and distribution, as well as its profit (a small fraction of a cent per pound), out of the other 10 per cent.

Naval Wedding.

An interesting bit of news throughout Southern California was told yesterday by Mrs. William Warren Orcutt of No. 403 Mariposa avenue, who announced the marriage of her niece, Miss Ruth Logan Drown, and Capt. Benjamin W. Galley of the United States marines. The wedding took place in Washington on the day the armistice was signed, and was performed by the chaplain at Quantico, Va., where Capt. Galley is stationed.

The ceremony took place in church, and the gold-braided uniformed officers in the Marine Corps acting as attendants gave an air of dash decidedly in keeping with the day of double rejoicing.

Both the bride and bridegroom are members of the two oldest families in Ojai and Ventura county. One of Capt. Galley's ancestors signed the Declaration of Independence.

The bride is a graduate of Cumnock School of this city and has been an incessant war worker since America joined in the struggle. For the past year she was assistant director of the diet kitchen of the Red Cross chapter in Pasadena. Capt. Galley is a graduate of the University of California. Following the ceremony the couple were entertained at a brilliant military dinner given at the New Willard Hotel in Washington by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Betts, relatives of the bride.

Thanksgiving Wedding.

A war romance will culminate in the wedding on Thanksgiving Day of Capt. Carl B. Schmidt, formerly of this city, and Miss Amy Dean of Chicago. The bride-elect is the daughter of an official of the Pullman Car Company, while Capt. Schmidt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schmidt of Stoneman avenue, Los Angeles, the family having come here seven years ago from Mexico City. Before he enlisted in the service a year and a half ago Capt. Schmidt was a well-known engineering contractor. At present he is in the Regular Army stationed at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich. Until a few weeks ago he was stationed at Fort Sheridan, just outside of Chicago, and it was while there that he and Miss Dean met. Mrs. Schmidt, Capt. Schmidt's mother, is leaving this morning for Chicago to witness the ceremony. Capt. Schmidt is a graduate of Cornell University.

Mrs. Canfield.

After a rest of two weeks spent in Elsinore, Mrs. C. O. Canfield is home again. During her stay in the mountains she devoted most of her time shooting quail, going out each morning at 5:30 o'clock with her rifle and basket of lunch. Her sisters-in-law, Mrs. J. M. Danziger, and Mrs. Al G. Faulkner, are expected home from New York the middle of next month. They went East to start the Red Cross room for the Woman's National War Relief. It is progressing nicely, and they feel they can leave it in other hands by that time.

Reception Postponed.

Because the influenza ban is still on, the reception that Miss Margaret Goetz was to have given today at her home, No. 677 Valencia street, to members of the MacDowell circle No. 2 has been postponed indefinitely. The affair was to have been to mark the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Marian Nevins MacDowell, and Madame Petchnikoff, the great Russian violinist, who is to be soloist at the Symphony concert next month, was to have been honor guest.

Home Wedding.

Miss Clemence Rebecca Oakley and Albert Lee Bettyn were married by Rev. I. E. Leonard of the South Park Presbyterian Church at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Oakley of No. 1247 East Thirty-eighth street, yesterday morning. Following the ceremony, the couple left to pass a five-day honeymoon at the mountain cabin of Mr. Oakley. Mr. Bettyn is in the service, stationed at Fort Rosecrans. His bride is a law student at the University of Southern California, and was to have graduated in June.

Personal.

Miss Marguerite Brunswig is home from the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Menlo Park, and will remain here until the influenza ban is lifted and school opens again.

TROUBLE STARTED OVER SOLDIER, HE SAYS

TRAVELING SALESMAN DECLARES WIFE REBUFFED ALL HIS ADVANCES.

Franklin G. Cantor, a traveling salesman, was granted a divorce from Louise G. Cantor by Judge McCormick yesterday. Mr. Cantor testified that his wife confessed to him that she had met H. F. Larrabee, a soldier, and this caused the trouble.

"I would put my arms around my wife and kiss her," said Mr. Cantor. "She would shove me away and say: 'I don't care anything for you; go, love some other girl. Don't show off before people when you don't mean it.'"

In a letter said to have been written to Mr. Larrabee, the wife said she would rather live with him at a salary of 16 cents a day than with her husband at the salary he gets. When Mr. Cantor confronted his wife with these letters, he said, she begged forgiveness and promised to give up the soldier. He said he forgave her, but later she wrote another letter to the soldier. It was introduced in evidence. One sentence was:

"Oh, my dear, I hope you love me as much as ever or more than ever, but it seems since talking to you over the phone that you don't care. I'll be able to tell after I get your letter."

CONTRIBUTORS TO GET MONEY BACK.

United States Commissioner Long made an order yesterday exonerating the bond of $5000 given by a local bonding company for the appearance of B. Nakahara, the Japanese who committed hara-kiri, before the United States commissioner in San Francisco, yesterday.

The money was collected by the friends of Nakahara, and then placed in one of the Los Angeles banks and a certified check given the bonding company. The death of Nakahara put an end to all further proceedings, and the money is to be returned to the contributors.

WAR DONATIONS BOARD STILL ON.

Charities and Benefits Must Have Body's Approval as Heretofore.

The Los Angeles division of the war donations board has still full charge of all war charities or benefits for war purposes. Charles C. Moore, chairman of the State Council of Defense, announced yesterday that no moneys nor subscriptions should be made to any war charities or benefits for war purposes, unless the project has the written and public approval of the State Council of Defense through its war donations department.

All inquiries for information should be addressed to E. G. Judah, Chairman of the Los Angeles division of the war donations board, State Council of Defense; telephone, Main 8970.

EXONERATE ACCUSED; HOLD CHIEF WITNESS.

MURDER CASE TAKES UNUSUAL TWIST — DUAL KILLING INVOLVED.

Charges of murder against Christie A. Schultz, who was accused of having stabbed John Matz, October 13, during a fight in an East Fifth-street cafe, were dismissed yesterday by Justice Hanby at Schultz's preliminary hearing. The defense proved that Matz was the aggressor and witnesses testified that he went to the cafe with the intention of "getting" Schultz.

Immediately following the dismissal, Deputy District Attorney Clark ordered a deputy sheriff to place George A. Smith, star witness for the prosecution, under arrest, as a complaint charging perjury would be filed against him, he said. It is claimed by the District Attorney's office that Smith testified at the Coroner's inquest that he heard Schultz make threats against Matz, and that he saw Schultz strike Matz in the back with a knife. But when placed on the stand at the preliminary hearing he swore all he knew of the affair was that he saw Matz lying on the floor of the cafe.

This case was closely allied with the brutal death of Bertha May Wiswell, whose body was exhumed after the police had been informed that her death certificate contained statements that were not true. Edward J. Bray, consort of the Wiswell woman, is now in the County Jail waiting preliminary hearing on charges of causing her death.

TO HONOR BRITISH.

We will Join in Nation-wide Celebration if Influenza Ban is Lifted, League Says.

Los Angeles will participate in the nation-wide mass meeting December 7 to pay tribute to Great Britain for her unselfish part in the great war if the influenza ban is lifted by that time, Gen. Johnstone Jones, chairman of the local branch of the National Security League, yesterday wired Alton B. Parker, chairman of the national committee.

The proposed celebration has the approval of President Wilson, and notables the country over. The organizations back of the movement include the National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Sulgrave Institute, National Security League and American Defense Society.

TO TEST SANITY.

Robert Leeper, who is said to have made a criminal attack on Anna Schwartz when she applied for a position in Leeper's office, November 10, was yesterday ordered to the psycopathic ward of the County Hospital for observation by Superior Judge Willis. C. L. Belt, attorney for Leeper, swore to an insanity complaint against his client.

Mrs. Max Rappaport, sister of the complaining witness, caused a dramatic scene in Justice Summerfield's court last week when the preliminary hearing of Leeper was being held. She attacked Leeper, and but for the intercession of court attaches, she, assisted by her husband, would have administered serious punishment to the defendant. At the time Attorney Belt stated that he would ask for an assault complaint against the Rappaports, but his petition was denied by the District Attorney's office.

ASKED FOR CHANGE, STABBED, SAYS NEGRO.

As an aftermath of a stud poker game played three years ago, John M. Lewis, colored, yesterday appeared before Justice Summerfield on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. According to the complaining witness, John Geary, also colored, the men engaged in a friendly game of craps, and Lewis is said to have won $5. Geary gave him a $20 bill and asked for change. Lewis is said to have taken the bill with the remark, "I'll just keep this bill. You owed me $15 from a poker game back in Kansas City." Geary objected and a few minutes later was on his way to the Receiving Hospital where thirty-seven stitches were taken in different parts of his anatomy. Lewis was held to answer charges in the Superior Court, but at the request of Defense Attorney W. O. Tyler, was released on his own recognizance.

CAME HOME TO FIND WIFE HAD DEPARTED.

Housework was a bore for Mrs. Rose E. Irwin, it appears. She told her neighbors that she was tired of getting up early and cooking breakfast. One morning she told Mr. Irwin to bring home some meat. When he returned that day she was gone. Yesterday he was granted a decree of divorce by Judge McCormick.

MONEY-GETTERS PAID TRIBUTE.

Patriotic Workers for War Fund are Thanked.

Big Men, Firms Save City from Humility.

Teams in Final Rally Put Us Over the Top.

The wind-up of the United War Work campaign in Los Angeles was made remarkable by the last hour subscriptions and by the patriotic guarantees against failure given by leading citizens and big business firms.

Success having been won recognition was yesterday given to the splendid work of the men and women comprising the precinct committees of the Red Cross Campaign Committee whose services were unselfishly devoted to the United War Work drive.

H. M. Haldeman, chairman of the campaign, and P. C. Gernert, chairman precinct inspectors, issued the following tribute:

"On behalf of the various welfare organizations who are the beneficiaries of this campaign, we wish to thank most sincerely the loyal men and women who made up the precinct committees and played such an important part in the success of the campaign.

OVERCOME HANDICAPS.

"Nothwithstanding the epidemic of influenza, the lack of appreciation on the part of the public of the necessity of the campaign, and many other handicaps that came up from time to time, you went ahead regardless of all these things, and proved your patriotism in the thorough manner in which you took care of the work allotted to you."

The work of the campaign teams also came in for high commendation. Chairman Haldeman stated that at Wednesday night's dinner Los Angeles still needed $12,000 to put her over the top. The teams and private citizens came to the rescue and raised the sum.

SAVED THE DAY.

This $12,000 was the balance left after guarantees had been obtained for $68,000 from big citizens and responsible firms who practically saved the day when it was necessary to get $80,000 to put Los Angeles over the top. The following are those who gave so that Los Angeles should be saved the humility of acknowledging defeat:

In a telegram received last night, 65,200 subscribers are reported for the division in the State, with pledges totaling $150,000. San Francisco reports 6000 enrollments for a total of $18,000.

CALLS IT A MONOPOLY.

Canning Company, With Government Contract in Sight, Attacks State Market Bureau's Offspring.

On the ground that the California Tomato Growers' Association seeks to control 95 per cent. of the tomato crop in this section, the Calima Canning Company, in an answer filed yesterday to the suit of the association for an injunction, charges that the latter is an illegal monopoly. The association was formed under the direction of the State Market Bureau.

The canning company contends that it had contracted with the government to sell 75,000 cases of tomatoes, and if prevented from filling the contract by injunction, the loss to the company would aggregate $33,264.

GO EASY ON FRUIT MEN?

Clause in State Law Regarding Wire Covering May Bring Leniency in Court.

Because the State Food Sanitation Act states that entrances of stores where food is on sale must be protected by wire gauze covering "wherever practicable," thirty-five retail fruit sellers arrested last week on complaint of the Health Department, will probably receive lenient treatment in Police Judge White's court when they appear, two weeks from today.

Their attorneys, Charles L. Larzelere for the Hoover Market, Oscar Lawler for the Sanitary Markets, and Jud Rush for the remainder, will prepare demurrers, pointing out the inadequacy of the State law, among other things, and these will come up for a decision at that time.

As many of the parents of soldiers in France have not as yet received from their boys the labels necessary to place on Christmas boxes for overseas men in the service, Congressman Osborne on November 12 wired the Secretary of War asking for a modification of the rules for sending boxes. The time limit for sending boxes has now been extended to November 30, and, where labels have not been received by nearest relatives, they may file affidavits with the Red Cross, and, if satisfactory, secure necessary labels.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY.

If you have no coin but courtesy yet may you pay your way.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT.

A LONG GREEN.

Marshal Foch is said to be very much interested in the game of golf. We are in favor of making Germany over into a links for him to practice on.

TAKING THE POLE.

Now they want Ignace Jan Paderewski to leave the piano and become the President of a new Polish republic. They figure that he could strike the right note of harmony, anyhow.

WILL BE THERE.

The women of America asked for representation on the peace conference, but, as the President is going to take his wife along, what more could be asked. The women will have a vote and a voice even if they cannot be identified.

DOUBLING UP.

There will be a few surprises when they come to check up on some of the soldiers' wives who have been receiving government allotments while their alleged husbands were in the service. A sailor with a wife in every port has nothing on a woman with a husband in every camp.

GOING AGAINST THE GRAIN.

After long months of abstinence it is once more possible for the poultryman to obtain limited rations of wheat for the entertainment and sustenance of the feathered flock. Now, if the hens fail to speed up the egg supply, they are ungracious slackers indeed.

A CHANCE FOR ALL.

The Red Cross researchers have listed 1202 occupations that can be filled by one-legged men and 278 that are available to those who are shy of arms; so that there will be no trouble in finding proper employment for the comparatively few Americans who have been made permanent cripples by the war. This research is far from being complete. It takes tragedy to develop the powers and possibilities of some men. There are legless roller skaters and armless card writers. If a man has his reason and one lung he can get along in California. Even if he loses his reason he can still write scenarios for the movies.

THRONE OUT.

The monarchy of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt has also gone into the discard with the rest of the cripples. This hereditary principality has an area not quite as great as Los Angeles and a population considerably less than Boyle Heights, but it has been keeping up an imitation of a throne for a century or so. In the general shake-up some of the barnacles were pried loose and the Prince of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt may by this time be working on the railroad for all that most of the world knows or cares. The sorting over of a lot of these tin-foil kingdoms of Central Europe explains how easy it was for some of our high-speed writers of romance to obtain their material.

KING HIGH.

Back in 1907 the Kaiser remarked in one of his addresses: "The German nation is the block of granite upon which our God can build up and complete his work of civilizing the world." This was good-naturedly accepted as a piece of royal bombast at the time, but the interpretation has been different from what Wilhelm imagined or intended. The German nation is the chopping block on which the world stands while it plans a civilization which runs counter to everything which Germany represented. If the Kaiser had a God of his own he decorated him with the double cross, but the fact is the Emperor himself was sacrilegious enough to attempt to masquerade as the Almighty.

THE HOLIDAY HABIT.

Congress has been asked to have Thanksgiving officially moved forward so that it would hereafter fall on November 11, or Peace Day. It will do no harm to have two holidays in November, as in most States it is a rather gloomy and disagreeable month. If a man can get in thanksgiving mood in November let him have the chance. Besides, Thanksgiving is peculiarly an American holiday, born of conditions native to the soil and a part of the country's history. Peace Day will be an international affair—a world holiday—and as such hold a different meaning that would be confusing to an American harvest festival. There are a good many holidays in the world, but fewer in America than in most lands, and we can easily afford to take on another without doubling it up with Thanksgiving.

WILSON'S AMBITIONS.

President Wilson's ambition to become the first head of the League of Nations is commendable; possibly no one living is better equipped mentally to occupy so exalted and so delicate a position. In so honoring our President the whole nation would be honored, and the President possesses that detached personality and the intellectual grasp of fundamental ideas that peculiarly fit him for the position; but it is singularly unfortunate that the first announcement that our President is being considered for the position should come from Washington. President Wilson will be embarrassed seriously in his work as a peace commissioner and in his crusade for the establishment of a supreme League of Nations if he becomes regarded by the other commissioners as a candidate for the presidency of the new league when it is formed.

There are certain direct methods to which we have become accustomed in this country—notably in Texas—but which are viewed with marked suspicion by European statesmen and governments. While there may be a feeling in the heart of every Frenchman that Marshal Foch has won the right by his brilliant martial leadership to the place as first president of the League of Nations; yet there is a certain dignified reserve in the French mentality that would prevent the claims of Marshal Foch being advanced by any Frenchman or French publication. The ardor of our President's reception abroad will certainly be cooled if the rumor precedes him that he is going to Paris to advance his personal interests.

President Wilson has probably done more than any other living person to preserve twentieth century civilization from the domination of military autocracy. He has stated the fundamentals for which free peoples are fighting more clearly than any other, and his plan for the establishment of a League of Nations has been indorsed in every country that was a party to the war. He has performed valiant service, but it has all been preliminary to the infinitely greater task of establishing such a league on an enduring basis. But by reason of the exalted position which the President occupies his every act commands universal attention and it is unavoidable that some of his utterances will be misconstrued. Jealousy and envy have not been driven from the earth and there are certain conventions that not only the President but the nation must scrupulously observe if we are to render our highest service in restoring peace to the world.

Forming a League of Nations does not abolish nationalism. The United States does not lose its identity in fusing with other nations in the formation of such a league. We escape from none of our present duties, but we accept additional ones which, at the beginning, are certain to be onerous. The war period was less critical for the country at large than the reconstruction period; for the country was united in waging war while it is certain to be divided by economic and party rivalries when the war ends.

President Wilson has informed members of Congress that he expects to continue to fill the functions of President of the United States while he is in attendance at the peace congress; that he will be technically on American soil while he is in the American Legation at Paris and that he will use the wireless to run our government for us while he is aiding in the formation of the League of Nations. But, while the President may be willing to make such a sacrifice, there is a grave doubt whether the American people are willing to give their President to the service of all nations at the price of depriving themselves of a Chief Executive. Our governmental machinery is not so adjusted that it will run itself, and the interests of the country are too great and varied to be regulated indefinitely by wireless from beyond the seas. The American people have become accustomed to a resident Chief Executive and there are certain traditions from which they do not lightly depart. Few peace conferences have lasted less than ten months.

Moreover, the selection of the first president of the new League of Nations is of transcendent importance. There are racial and national jealousies which war has not wiped out. The Times never supported Dr. Wilson when he was a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, for the good and sufficient reason that it believed there were other candidates better equipped for the job; but The Times says freely that it believes Dr. Wilson is the most capable man who could be selected for the first president of the League of Nations. Unfortunately, however, there are other considerations than the one of capability. National dignity will not permit our country to urge its President for the head of the League of Nations at the time the league is being formed. We could only consent for him to serve if he were to be requisitioned unanimously by the other nations taking part in the conference. Availability forms the supreme test, and it is doubtful whether a citizen of any of the great countries of the world will be considered available. The choice is likely to go to Belgium or some other country that is not itself a first-rate power.

Any consideration of the choice of the first president of the League of Nations before the league itself is formed is putting the cart before the horse. Disinterestedness is the first qualification of an ideal commissioner. If Col. House has, as Washington dispatches indicate, been urging the qualifications of his chief for the head of the League of Nations while acting as the President's personal representative in Europe he has been guilty of a violation of the proprieties to an extent that is almost unbelievable. The last persons to suggest Dr. Wilson as the head of the League of Nations are the President himself and his personal representative. That either should have been the first is unthinkable.

German tricks at the peace table should be guarded against by the Allies. Having failed to win by the sword, they are likely to try the power of the pen. They are a clever lot, but will be matched by the representatives of the Allies.

What is to become of the myriad of airplanes when the battle flags are furled? About everything else has been disposed of in advance by the wiseacres, but they are stumped on the question of the disposal of the air fleet.

Woodrow's Mind is on the Job—Which Job?

THE LITTLE NATIONS.

After a thousand years of centralization, during which the lesser states were federated into political alliances forming great empires and republics, civilization in the twentieth century is taking up the cause of little peoples and preparing to release those forced into federations through martial suasion. Apparently the future is to be to the little peoples. The decentralization of power which the Allies have determined upon will double the number of nations in the world, treble the number in Europe and restore to autonomy a number of Asiatic countries that have been held for a thousand years in political and economic vassalage.

At least one-fourth the surface of the earth has been purposely made sterile and kept in a condition of semi-civilization by reason of the jealousies and rivalries of the big countries. Central Asia, once the garden spot of civilization, has been turned back to barbarism. The whole of the Balkan peninsula has been held in a condition of serfdom by Turkey, Austria and Russia. Arabia, flower of medieval enlightenment, has gone back to the desert. The valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates have been rendered sterile by political combinations. In the heart of India and Indo-China are found traces of ancient civilizations of a magnificence that even the twentieth century has not excelled.

Even the United States has not been wholly guiltless. The soil and climate of Mexico compare favorably with that of the greater part of this country and surpass most of Canada. Yet chaos reigns over Mexico and at least half the population is not far removed from barbarism. This condition is due to a vacillating policy on the part of our own government, which would neither extend its institutions to embrace the territory known as Mexico nor permit colonization by any other country. For a purely national policy this may have been correct; but it is not in accordance with the high resolves of those great Allied leaders who are now evolving a new humanitarian policy to be put into effect by the League of Nations.

For two hundred years political economists have taught that civilization advances fastest when a number of small states are federated under a single and powerful central government. It has been held that the economic advantages possessed by the wealthy nations through their consulates established in foreign countries and through their merchant marine, made successful competition by lesser peoples impossible. Only ten years ago there was a strong movement in Switzerland to unite with Germany by reason of the economic advantages that would accrue.

President Wilson and Mr. Balfour are agreed, however, that this policy of centralization has been carried to excess; that trusts among nations are injurious. France, Great Britain and the United States are pledged to join in an unscrambling of these national trusts wherever a people protests that it is being held in political and economic vassalage. It is the most far-reaching experiment in government ever attempted.

Some of the benefits to be derived are plainly apparent. It means the rediscovery of the great productive areas of Eastern Europe and half Asia. The economic opening of Arabia will bring productive districts, now barren, under cultivation and will lead to a recrudescence of the horse through the infusion of the blood of the famous Arab breeds whose exportation has been prohibited. The copper mines of Serbia and the mineral wealth of Siberia will be developed in the interest of humanity as a whole. In fact, if the plan is followed to its logical conclusion enough new productive areas will be opened to modern development to replace within a generation all the wealth destroyed by the war.

Before the plan of the League of Nations is perfected we must solve the problem of the foreign trade of the smaller nations. It will have profited little to break the military power of the Central Empires if they are permitted to develop an economic machine that will control the trade of the world; for a country reduced to economic vassalage is as much enslaved by a powerful neighbor as though it were under actual political domination. Neither will the League of Nations plan permit Great Britain to use its merchant fleet to control the commerce of the world. It will be the duty of the new league to repress the strong and aid the weak to the end that an economic equality may be established among all peoples. No people can enjoy political freedom while economically enslaved.

Forming a League of Nations to make a recurrence of war practically impossible during the present generation is a problem whose solution is facilitated by the present association of free peoples. The military problems are easily solvable, but the supreme test will be ending the conflict between chimerical conceptions and economic necessities. The present war has revealed that political theories can create greater ravages than torch and cannon. Gustave Le Bon, the great French scientist, has already warned his countrymen that "To suppress risk and competition in industrial enterprises, according to the theories of the Latin Socialists, will put an end to the whole progress of civilization." He points out further that "The diversity of council given by the theorists on the direction of our future efforts show that they take much more account of their desires than of economic possibilities."

Le Bon is seeking to impress upon his countrymen that the path of human progress is still the mountain route, and that the whole future of civilization will be imperiled if the commissioners at the peace conference permit their reason to be misled by the illusions of chimeric utopists. That warning is one which the thinking people of every country should heed. National security is to be found in the broad highways paved by experience, not in the blind alleys where the Socialists are invariably entrapped by the Bolsheviki. The rediscovery of the little peoples is a highly-interesting economic and sociological experiment; but the nations that have won the present war must beware lest, in giving too much attention to liberating these, they permit themselves to become ensnared in dangerous economic alliances. Too much legislation, even for a League of Nations, is worse than none at all.

NEWSPAPERS HARD HIT.

At a recent meeting of the Inland Daily Press Association at Chicago the chairman of the Standing Committee asserted that labor and war conditions have forced the consolidation of 250 daily papers in the United States and the suspension of 850 publications since the war began.

Readers of magazines and class publications have no idea of the difficulties confronting publishers at this time. Material (paper, ink, etc.) has gone almost out of sight in price and it must be remembered by subscribers that war conditions have materially reduced the advertising patronage upon which class publications depend for support.

This increase in cost and reduction in income has compelled publishers to reduce the size of their papers both in inches and number of pages.

All publishers who are able to weather these terms are to be congratulated.

We are all hoping for an early return to normal times when the papers may return to their usual form and volume.

The Morning Reading.

Get up early and read your morning paper, when your mind is clear and your heart is warm. Then is the only time to catch a true impression of the events that are going on. A person can think better in the morning than in the evening; and one may not know it, but it is a fact that reading a newspaper is entitled to the best intellect a person has. Then is when he gets his views of life and acquires some idea of his own duty to society. The morning paper comes with the fresh air of the morning, when nature is at its best and truth has a chance. Don't say you have no time to read the paper in the morning. Make time. That is possible for every man who feels his life is worth anything. It is possible, also, if you notice right closely, that the best thinkers in a community are those who read their newspaper in the morning.—[Ohio State Journal.

PALPITATING QUESTION.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

A woman must positively be appointed to sit in deliberation with the mighty at the forthcoming peace council. Such is the urgent resolution passed and wired to President Wilson by women's clubs and committees in all parts of the United States. And Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Mons. Clemenceau of France have probably been deluged with a like number of forceful reminders on the delicate subject. Each respectful resolution draws proper attention to the loyalty, service, patriotism, etc., exhibited by womanhood during the war and sets forth the impossibility of a reasonable and satisfactory settlement being achieved minus the leaven of feminine intellectual and spiritual aid.

It is a palpitating question, fraught with much delicacy. It is noteworthy that none of the resolutions undertake the responsibility of suggesting the particular feminine mind and spirit they would suggest for the honor. And all of them modestly restrict themselves to request for "a woman." But doubtless each community has glowing ideas for some particular claimant.

Assuming that the feminist claim receives respectful attention, who then, is the mighty dame to be? English suffragists would undoubtedly plump for Emmeline or Christabel Pankhurst, while British loyalists would feel an urge towards Queen Mary, the most suffragetty "anti" known to fame. Irish Sinn Feiners would undoubtedly have a predilection for Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington. And martyred Belgium probably hold ideas anent King Albert's consort. France might even consider Sarah Bernhardt an entirely eligible person.

But the United States of America has a vast and catholic selection to choose from. There are Jane Addams, the uplifter and Ford peace ship participant; Dr. Anna Shaw, the arch-feminist; Carrie Chapman Catt, suffragist de luxe; Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, national president of the woman's federation of clubs; Emma Goldman, red Socialist; Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the first lady in the land; Anne Morgan, millionairess; Gertrude Atherton, novelist; Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman, the lady who regards private homes and babies as woman's "drudgery," who penchant is for baby institutions; Marie Botchkareova, leader of Russia's Battalion of Death, now in this country; or Jeannette Rankin, first woman Congressman at Washington.

And Los Angeles, the arch-home of woman's clubs, rampant with votes, awaits but the merest soupcon of encouragement to put forth Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, State president of the club federation; Mrs. Seward Simons, celebrated pacifist; Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, State Liberty Loan heroine; Clara Shortridge Foltz, suffrage birthday revivalist; Mrs. Hester Griffith, arch-prohibitionist, et al.

It is a perturbing thought to remember, too, that Los Angeles is not the only city in the country teeming with eligible femininity.

However, it is obvious this mighty question must be settled. With proper patriotic gallantry we may as well dismiss any mere foreign female from our consideration. One can't help feeling sorry Carrie Nation is dead. This seems to us essentially a case for Carrie Nation, recommending sobriety with an axe, standing for all things pure and lofty, and ready to enforce her views with a capable hatchet. But failing Carrie, it ought to be a lady whom the men would feel the utmost confidence in, whose dealings with their sex has proved her powers. What about Lillian Russell? Or Mary Pickford? Or Maxine Elliott? We have Nat Goodwin's word for it that Maxine has the mind and prestige of a Roman senator.

On the other hand, of course, the Socialist element might take it as a graceful compliment if Emma Goldman were the honoree. Emma certainly has a forceful way with her.

But perhaps the very best solution of all would be a co-equal feminine peace council comprising all the forementioned ladies, appointed to sit as a second chamber, as it were. Modern government is all on the basis of the two-chamber system, each brilliantly vetoing everything the other passes. This scheme would add so much to the sustained interest of the peace deliberations. A mere secluded council of wise men could become such a tedious bore after the first couple of days. But the ladies could be trusted to make things hum. One lone woman in a council of men might conceivably be argued down. You know what men are. But with a full quota feminine council acting concurrently, there would be every chance of the ladies' views being heard, and the joys of peace could be at least extended over as many years as the war has consumed.

Still, as we said before, we are sorry Carrie Nation is dead.

A Nation of Menials.

It is interesting to speculate whether the eventual downfall of Prussianism will tend to curb that most undemocratic practice, so highly organized in the fatherland, the offering of Trinkgeld. The five-pfennig tip for the "ober," the one-pfennig gratuity for the car conductor for his services in collecting the fare, with all the ramifications of the system in social activities, are but symbols of the accepted superiority of the giver and the accepted inferiority of the receiver; they are responsible for a miserable pretense of friendship and courtesy based on the hope of reward; they fan the humiliating desire for largesse. Surely the ideal democracy will not countenance this relic of feudalism; its citizens will demand of their neighbors respect rather than Trinkgeld.—[Christian Science Monitor.

The soldiers who left college for service are to be the first men discharged. By this means their college work will have been interfered with in the minimum sense, and they may resume their studies. The record of American colleges and universities in this regard is one of which every red-blooded citizen ought to take a solemn pride.

GERMAN SUPERIORITY A MYTH.

BY DR. A. SHADWELL, M.A., M.D.

One of the Kaiser's many war speeches contained the remark, "We Germans are not given to boasting." If they are not, then no people ever have been; for the world has never witnessed such an outburst of boasting as the Germans have given us. The moment the war began German writers, headed by the professors, hastened to pour out a deluge of pamphlets extolling everything German up to the skies, boasting beforehand of victory and pouring contempt on their adversaries.

It was an orgy of self-praise without restraint or shame. There has never been anything like it before, and no people but the Germans would be capable of such an exhibition. But the war only brought out what was already in their minds and often on their tongues in private life. During the last twenty years they have been working themselves up into a state of insane self-admiration, and that is the real cause of the war. They were taught to regard themselves as a people apart, superior to all others, destined and entitled by virtue of their surpassing merits to dominate the rest of the world and, above all, to take the place of the British Empire. Hence all the talk about kultur and Deutschland uber Alles!

This belief was shared in varying degrees by all classes, including Socialists. The whole nation was infected, as none has ever been before, with a spirit of overbearing arrogance, which found its most complete expression in the military caste and in university professors, who supplied the theories and arguments. But it was not confined to them. Officialdom, the professions, commerce, industry, science, art and literature were all permeated with it.

Teutonic vanity was swollen by foreign adulation. Germany was held up as a model for this, that and the other, with too little discrimination, and the Germans were taken too readily at their own valuation. They used to come over here, run down everything they saw, and patronizingly explain how much better they did everything in Germany. People here, accustomed to the exaggerated deprecation by which it is thought necessary to push all sorts of causes and reforms, accepted these judgments meekly and swallowed wholesale the praises of Germany brought back by enthusiastic visitors. That mania has received a severe check, but it is not dead. Depreciation of native institutions and unfavorable comparisons with other countries, from which Germany cannot be excluded, are still in vogue.

At the present time the questions of public health and housing have been taken up with great energy and are being treated in the old way. We begin by depreciating everything here and drawing comparisons with other countries disadvantageous to ourselves.

Mr. Lloyd George struck this note at Manchester when he said that he doubted if there were a first-class country where less had been done. He has been badly misinformed. There is no country in which so much has been done for public health and housing, and none in which their standard is so high as England, whether you take the best or the worst or the general level.

The country which is most strictly comparable, and which comes next to England, is Germany; and the comparison is very much to the point, because Germans were fond of making it. They would point to our large industrial towns with their miles of mean streets, their slums and other bad features and boast that they had nothing of the sort in Germany. Travelers would go to Germany, note the handsome and orderly appearance of the streets, the profusion of fine buildings and other external signs of well-being in Berlin and other towns and come back with the same tale.

Then there was a great deal of talk about town-planning, with Germany as the model; it was all the rage.

I do not wish to suggest that there was nothing in all this. Our big towns do present a depressing and sometimes a wretched appearance; and there are veritable plague spots in them. And, on the other hand, there are some very good things in Germany. If you pick out the best there and the worst here, as was commonly done, you naturally get a contrast very unfavorable to us, but if you take a wide field for comparison and go below the surface you get a very different result. I cannot go into details, but some summary facts will show the true state of the case.

I will compare England with Prussia because the populations are pretty nearly equal (thirty-five to forty,) and Prussia is the most advanced German state. In the five years before the war the average death rate was: England, 13.9; Prussia, 16.1; the infantile death rate—England, 109; Prussia, 165; the deaths from consumption—England, 38,000; Prussia, 61,000; from scarlet fever—England, 2316; Prussia, 5592; from diphtheria — England, 4749; Prussia, 9144.

These figures are fully explained when one goes below the surface and examines the actual conditions. Beneath attractive and imposing exteriors one finds essential conditions distinctly inferior to those in our dingy-looking towns. There is far more overcrowding, for instance, with lack of space, air, light and conveniences; water supplies are less abundant and less pure; public health services and isolation hospitals are less complete; sewage disposal is less efficient.

A word of warning in conclusion. Nothing that has been said must be taken to imply that conditions are satisfactory here. I am only concerned to show that they are better than in Germany.

Revolutionary Noises.

Charles M. Schwab said in a Hog Island address:

"If the Austrian famine keeps on the Austrian strikes will keep on, and Austrian militarism and the Hapsburgs will be overthrown.

"There's nothing like a famine for causing revolutions. As I once heard an old Pennsylvania Dutchman say: "'Empty stummicks make der most noise.'"—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

EVENING.

It was evening. In all the soft splendor
Of the shadowed beauty of the passing night
The only weary ones were we.
Strap-hangers in a clanging trolley car.
While lurching round a curve I saw my star
Between a woman's hat and window bar.

You know the star,
How it pierces through the purple tree,
Against the rose and green;
It has six points cut clean,
With stiff bright rays
That shiver up and down.

It has a word for me,
So far, and yet
As near as my own heart to me
"Come! Come!" it calls so pointedly!
Each night it is the same,
Swift and keen as flame.

Next, my street!
Stumbling, I hurried to my feet,
Swerving with the car.
How worn and tired we are!
Each one going to his own familiar place
With set, indifferent face.

I swung off the steps, narrow steep;
The car went on and on,
A lighted, jiggling thing,
Jarring the stillness with its raucous ring.
Leaving me the evening and my star to meet.
While soft the wind came blowing down the street.

If every other avenue of employment fails the ex-Kaiser might come to his dear old United States and become an insurance agent.

Cucumbers can be had in Los Angeles the whole year round, thus placing aches within the reach of all. Southern California always did strive to please.

One of the champion high-jumpers up-State has recently married. As a married man he ought to be able to keep in practice, with the wife holding the barrier.

The country will rejoice that ex-President Roosevelt is recovering from an attack of sciatica and rheumatism. Old 81 Atica would have a tough time with him.

With the war practically over, what will the women folks do during the long winter nights? Last year they were knitting socks and sweaters for the men in khaki.

Premier Clemenceau says that the American troops made possible the early victory of the Allies, and he forgot to say whether they were Democrats or Republicans.

There is no room for the red flag in this country. Upon that we are all agreed, except the Bolsheviki, and they don't count. Swine the red colors wherever they appear.

There is a downward tendency in the prices of many foodstuffs and materials used in manufacturing—except cotton. Corn is strongly affected—but that is not raised in the South.

The red flag is out in Berlin. It means that the Bolsheviki have the city in their grip and also that the auctioneer is about to offer the Hohenzollern possessions to the highest bidder.

An election is soon to be called in England. Hope the administration won't have as bad luck as the government on this side of the water when a test was made of the temper of the country.

Mexico has been placed on a strictly gold basis by President Carranza. From this it would appear that he is not as foolish an executive as his crop of whiskers would seem to indicate.

Marshal Foch will make a solemn entry into Metz Sunday. What a difference from the days of 1871, when the beleaguered garrison of the French army was compelled to surrender. Time at last makes all things even.

President Wilson should not think of going abroad to attend the Versailles peace parley. There is likely to be a special session of Congress and he will want to go to Capitol Hill and get a slant at that Republican majority in both houses. He cannot be spared.

Some of the entertainments given along the western front were of a character to indicate that there is likely to be a lot of "big-time" talent to be used when the soldiers come home. The amusements have been of a high standard and prove that the woods are full of good performers if occasion calls for its demonstration.

EVENING.

It was evening. In all the soft light
Of the shadowed beauty of the coming night
The only weary ones were we,
Strap-hangers in a clanging trolley car.
While lurching round a curve, I saw my star
Between a woman's hat and window bar.

You know the star,
How it pierces through the poplar tree,
Against the rose and green;
It has six points cut clean,
With stiff bright rays
That shiver up and down.

It has a word for me,
So far, and yet
As near as my own heart to me,
"Come! Come!" it calls so pantingly!
Each night it is the same,
Swift and keen as flame.

Next, my street!
Stumbling, I hurried to my feet,
Swerving with the car.
How worn and tired we are!
Each one going to his own familiar place
With set, indifferent face.

I swung off the steps, narrow, steep;
The car went on and on,
A lighted, jizzling thing,
Jarring the stillness with its raucous ring.
Leaving me the evening and my star to meet,
While soft the wind came blowing down the street.

...e petition, signed by 183 resi... ...s of Redondo, presented to the ...oard at its meeting last Monday ...ht, a protest was entered, and the Trustees were requested to rescind their previous action, which was not done. Trustee Lechner voted against the employment of Cullen, and Trustee Brolaski, who was in San Francisco at the time, wired his protest.

Mayor Richardson brands the attempt to recall himself and Trustee Field as the work of political enemies of Cullen, who would like to see him "run out of town." Cullen was instrumental in the removal of Brolaski from the office of Mayor some months ago, and nominated Richardson as his successor, who was subsequently elected by the board. The recall petition recites that Richardson and Field have violated the trust imposed in them, that they have voted for the needless expenditure of the city's funds and the appointment of unnecessary officials. All these allegations they strenuously deny. Richardson, Field and Cullen were elected on the prosperity, or Brolaski, ticket, at the last April election. In the meantime it is proposed to secure a temporary injunction restraining the City Treasurer from paying Mr. Cullen's salary.

SEWERAGE IN ORANGE COUNTY A PROBLEM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, Nov. 20.—Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana have, in the past, had no end of trouble with the disposition of their sewage, and each city is maintaining septic tanks and running the effluent out over the lands adjoining the tanks, much to the disgust of owners of neighboring lands.

With a view of discussing the proposition to construct a joint outfall to the ocean, the Board of City Trustees of this city has instructed the City Clerk to invite representatives from the governing bodies of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Brea to be present at the meeting of the local board on the second Tuesday in December.

WINS WAR CROSS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 21.—Capt. Allen Fletcher, formerly of this city but when he entered the service recently the editor of the Victorville paper, has been awarded the distinguished cross for extraordinary heroism in action in France, according to a letter received by friends from relatives in the East.

The citation is: "Capt. Allen Fletcher, Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry, for extraordinary heroism in action at Gesnes, France, September 29, 1918. Although he was severely wounded he continued to lead his company in the assault on Gesnes, then, much weakened by his wound, he reorganized his company and directed its employment as a covering detachment in the withdrawal. He remained with his company until ordered to leave his post and received medical treatment. He showed throughout the engagement a devotion to duty only exceeded by his utter disregard of personal danger.

The letter says he is recovering from the wound.

ORANGE GROWERS PAY HIGH WAGES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 21.—Highest wages ever known here are being paid to all classes of labor engaged in handling the early navel crop. Pickers are getting 6 cents a box, with a guarantee of $4.50 per day of eight hours, and many of them are turning in tags which call for as high as $10 per day. Packing at the various plants is also more than usually profitable. The price this season is 6 cents per box, with a bonus for all who remain throughout the season. Experts are making better than $30 per week.

It is probable the bulk of the crop will be rolling East by the middle of December.

If you value protection from contagious disease go to Arrowhead Springs.—[Advertisement.

GLENDALE LIBERTY FAIR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Nov. 21.—The opening of the Liberty Fair to be held at the high school has been announced for November 21. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, chairman, will act on the hostess committee. The regular enthusiasm which accompanies an affair of this kind was somewhat checked by the fact that the health authorities demand that masks be worn. Special attention has been called to the exhibit of work of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle by the P.-T.A. The art classes, under the direction of Miss Muller, have made several clever posters, which are highly praised by those in charge of the booths. This exhibit will be in the armory building.

A committee of five was selected to choose a name for the organization and make a report at the next meeting, which will be held next Tuesday evening.

BEACH HARBOR LIGHTS DIM.

Chamber Members Criticise City Officials.

Boatmen Insist There's Only One Oil Lantern.

Serious Menace to Life, Property, Says Houssels.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 21.—Severely criticising the board of public works department of the city government for its alleged indifference, or incompetency, in providing adequate lighting facilities at the entrance of Long Beach Harbor, directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a heated session today, during which hints of a recall were freely made.

Long Beach boatmen started the discussion when they told the directors that the present lights, consisting of one dim oil lantern that, it is alleged, cannot be seen until a vessel is upon it.

Capt. Roger Walton acted as spokesman for the boatmen. "More boats were wrecked at the entrance of Long Beach Harbor last year than all along the Pacific Coast put together," he declared. Continuing, he said: "The present oil lantern put out once in a while at the end of the jetties is no better than a candle."

Bismarck Houssels, heavily interested in Long Beach, San Diego and Los Angeles canning plants, bore out the truth of Capt. Walton's statements, declaring he spoke from personal experience, and added that the lack of adequate illumination at the harbor entrance is a serious menace to life and property.

W. H. McCoy, president of the Long Beach Harbor Industrial Association and director of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that Long Beach Harbor was known all over the country as the most dangerous port on the Coast to attempt to make after dark.

He openly expressed, with others, discontent with the manner in which the City Commissions handled such affairs, and severely scored those of the city government responsible for the alleged "lightlessness" of the municipal harbor entrance.

As a result of the discussion, Secretary Lynn Ballard of the Chamber of Commerce, was instructed to appeal to the recently-created board of harbor commissioners for action.

VALOR REWARDED.

Distinguished Service Cross is Pinned on Capt. Sprague by Maj.-Gen. Shanks.

[BY A. A. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMP KEARNY, Nov. 21.—With the Eighty-second Infantry Regiment formed in a hollow square, Maj.-Gen. Shanks this afternoon presented the distinguished service cross to Capt. Chandler Sprague, an intelligence officer.

The act which calls for this citation of bravery, took place August 31, this year, near Balschwiller, Alsace. Upon returning from a raid against enemy trenches, Sprague missed one of his men. He promptly returned through artillery, machine-gun and rifle fire, found his man wounded and carried him on his back to the American lines.

Gen. Shanks pinned the cross on the captain's breast with few words, calling attention to the sufficiency of the inscription: "For valor."

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 21.—Bearing a bullet wound in the leg, received when he helped stop the German advance at Chateau Thierry, and still bearing painful reminders of gas and burns received there after he had been in the fighting fourteen days, Thad Forney has returned to his family's home at Bolsa.

As far as known, he is the first wounded defender to return to Orange county. He was a member of the Marines, and it was while assisting a fellow "Devil Dog" who had been fatally wounded that Forney received his wounds. He removed his mask for a minute, in order to more quickly give his comrade first aid treatment, and inhaled the poison gas. He was in the hospital from June 13 to September 16; when he was invalided home, remaining in a hospital on this side until a few days ago.

He is here on a thirty-day furlough, and from here will report at the Mare Island station. He enlisted with the Marines at Kansas City, in June, 1917

MOTHER, CHILD KILLED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 21.—In the effort to save the life of her 8-year-old daughter Muriel, Mrs. Ernest Meaney also lost her life tonight at the Mill-street and Tippecanoe-avenue crossing of the Pacific Electric. A San Bernardino-bound car struck and instantly killed both.

Motorman W. R. Miller of the car stated that he saw the mother and child cross the track on foot about ninety feet ahead, and the little girl evidently became confused at the light and started back across the track. Mrs. Meaney frantically grasped for the child and was unable to reach her. The woman dashed after the girl in a desperate attempt to snatch her from the right of way and, Miller says, he was unable to bring the fast-traveling car to a halt before it struck both the woman and child and hurled them some distance. The family lived in the northern part of the city.

HIGH SPOTS IN THE NEWS.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

There is no longer any doubt as to the status of municipal bonds in their relation to tax exemption. The fear that the committee would return them as "taxable" in the new revenue bill seems to be definitely dispelled. There was never any question as to the constitutionality of such a procedure, but as a war necessity it was realized that ordinary custom could be superseded by the unusual requirements of the moment.

Because of their qualities of exemption, municipals are in great demand. Many investors are looking with favor upon issues of this character, and are thriftily figuring that a 4 per cent. municipal surtax exempt is more than to be desired than some others paying a higher rate. Because of this condition, the available securities of this class are being snapped up on a rising market.

However, other bonds are exceedingly popular, and the new issues which have made their appearance since the signing of the armistice have not had far to look for buyers. Bonds backed by local corporations are also in better demand, and such offerings as Southern California Edison, Pacific Electric, Los Angeles Investment, Pacific Gas and Electric, and others, are coming into their own and finding ready sale. The general tone of the bond market is excellent, and constantly getting better.

A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian for the United States, has expressed what is in the heart of most Americans, when, in a recent speech, he delivered himself of a sentiment which has found ready indorsement in Los Angeles business circles:

"Industrial disarmament," he said, "must come along with military disarmament. Autocracy in industry must fall with the Hohenzollerns. I want the bankers of this country to help me crush the strangle hold which Germany, through its bankers and agents, has had upon most of the essential industries. I want to Americanize every German-owned industry in this country. I want to see every factory, every workshop, and every manufacturing plant that is enemy owned, placed in the hands of 100 per cent. Americans for all time."

It should be remembered that, although Los Angeles made tremendous subscriptions to the Liberty Loans, a large part of this money is still here, and that nearly half a million dollars a month is returned in interest. While eventually a large part of it will find its way into other channels, by that time the local readjustment will have been made, and the loan absorbed on a straight investment basis. In the meantime thousands of citizens are participating in interest-bearing securities who never before realized the pleasures of such an experience.

Secretary McAdoo has announced that the Fifth Liberty Loan may be for a short term and at 4½ per cent. If this turns out to be the case, it will make its flotation much easier and will tend to stabilize and lessen the process.

The United States Bureau of Crop Estimates forecasts a California orange crop of 14,322,000 boxes, of which 136,600 boxes will come from Northern California, 1,339,800 boxes from Central California, and about 13,000,000 boxes from Southern California.

It is stated that the Standard Oil Company of California has developed an improved process for the refining of lubricants through an agent known as "Death Valley clay." This clay, the name of which betrays its location, is declared to be much more effective than Fuller's earth. The company is said to control a deposit of the clay 240 acres in extent, and to have invested about $250,000 in surface improvements. The new process is to be thoroughly tried out at the El Segundo plant.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has been authorized to issue $5,000,000 of its 5 per cent. general and refunding mortgage bonds, payable January 1, 1942. The proceeds will reimburse the treasury for capital expenditures prior to May 31, 1918, and to finance new construction.

There will be no change in copper prices before the first of the year and the present price of 26 cents per pound may not be altered for several months. Most of the Arizona mines are working at capacity, and in spite of the ending of the war the demand for the metal is expected to continue at maximum, for the supply is far behind the peace requirements.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Erratic price changes attended today's stock market, trading falling to the lowest ebb in several weeks until the last hour, when an active selling movement effaced numerous gains.

Until that period even the professional element seemed disinclined to take even a temporary stand, pending partial readjustment of existing uncertainties, but the weight of the later offerings was too great to overcome.

Moderate strength in the early and intermediate stages of the session was attributed to prospects of less stringent money conditions after next week's heavy payment of the Fourth Liberty Loan. This possible relaxation was not expected to apply to time funds, the paucity of which is likely to extend over the year's end.

Specific reasons accounted for the heaviness of certain issues, such as shippings, metals and motors. Marine preferred recorded an extreme setback of 6 points, with but slight recovery from announcement of another inconclusive meeting of the directors.

Coppers were exposed to constant pressure by reason of unfavorable trade conditions, yielding 1 to 2½ points, and motors were under the "shadow of dividend readjustments" as shown by yesterday's action of the Maxwell directors.

On the constructive side for a time were rails, which evinced a fair degree of strength, industrials, including United States Steel and former war equipments, also oils and tobaccos, but the variable advances in these groups were forfeited almost altogether at the end. Sales amounted to 560,000 shares.

Dealings in bonds were moderate, but more diversified, the tone in the main being slightly easier. Liberty issues were steady, and internationals irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $9,675,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

HEALTH TALK

Spanish Influenza or Grip.

BY DR. LEE H. SMITH.

Old enemy, is with us again, no matter whether we fight a German or a germ, we must put up a good fight, and not be afraid. The influenza germ is a very brief course when the patient is careful, and if we keep the system in good condition and throw off the poisons which tend to accumulate within our bodies, we can escape the disease. Remember these C's—a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels. To carry off poisons from the system and keep the bowels loose, daily take a pleasant laxative should be taken. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of rhubarb, and called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Hot lemonade should be used freely if attacked by a cold, and the patient should be put to bed after a hot mustard foot-bath. To prevent the attack of bronchitis or pneumonia and to control the pain, Anuric tablets should be obtained at the drug store, and one given every two hours, with lemonade. The Anuric tablets were first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and, as they flush the bladder and cleanse the kidneys, they carry away much of the poisons and the uric acid.

It is important that broths, milk, buttermilk, ice-cream and simple foods be given regularly to strengthen the system and increase the vital resistance. The fever is diminished by the use of the Anuric tablets, and, in addition, the forehead, arms and hands may be bathed with warm (tepid) in which a tablespoonful of salvatus has been dissolved in a quart. After an attack of grip or pneumonia to build up and strengthen the system, obtain at the drug store a good iron tonic, called "Tonic" Tablets, or that well known herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

CHICAGO PACKERS AND FOOD ADMINISTRATION AGREE ON ACCOUNTING SYSTEM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—After a conference between representatives of the big Chicago packers and officials of the Federal Food Administration today, it was agreed that a perfected system of accounting to assure close supervision of profits is to be continued under direction of the Federal Trade Commission after the Food Administration ceases to exist.

The rules agreed on some time ago in conference with the Food Administration apply to the packers whose sales are in excess of $100,000,000 a year, the special regulations affecting their business only. Included in this class are the Swift, Armour, Morris, Wilson and the Cudahy companies.

In an official statement after today's conference the Food Administration said:

"During the year certain items of packers' products have been reserved to the jurisdiction of divisions of the government other than the Food Administration. Fertilizer, for example is handled by the Department of Agriculture and hides by the War Industries Board. These and other items require studies to make such regulations correspond precisely with the law on which the regulations are founded. They involved no change in the percentage of profit which the packers are permitted to make on foods.

"Under the revised regulations particular care is taken to assure correct value transfers on inedible items. This is for the purpose of assuring close supervision of profits. The book-keeping system has been simplified and perfected, and a uniform system of accounting is being applied. This continues under the general supervision of the Federal Trade Commission.

In attendance at the meeting were L. F. Swift, president, and G. H. Swift, Jr., vice-president of Swift & Co.; E. A. Cudahy, president, and G. C. Shepard, vice-president of the Cudahy Packing Company; Edward F. Morris, president of Morris & Co.; T. E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co.; Arthur Meeker, vice-president of Armour & Co., and Samuel Prescott, head of the food division of the United States Food Administration, presided.

The district quota was $402,000,000.

BIG BATTLE FOR PASADENA.

As the Board of Health decreed that no football game could be played in the city of Los Angeles Saturday, Lieut. Al Badenoc, coach of the Stanford team, and Coach Dean Cromwell of U.S.C., will take their men out of the city and hold the big game at Tournament Park, Pasadena.

Badenoc, former coach of Inglewood, arrived in the city yesterday and his men will reach Los Angeles early tomorrow morning. Stanford is sending the full football squad of twenty-one men, and two yell leaders. In the two games played by the northern university, Stanford went down to defeat to service teams. The Mare Island Marines and the Mather Field aviators defeated the Palo Alto huskies. In these games the Cards did not use their full line-up of experienced men, but is sending all of their best material to the Southland to use against the Trojans Saturday. A great improvement was shown in the game last week against the Mather Field aggregation, and the two tough scrimmages with the service teams have done wonders for the Stanford bunch.

Corp. Holt, the captain of the northern school, is a star from the Lincoln High School at Portland. Flood, who plays right end, is a well-known Rugby player. Dolly and "Babe" Henry are both from the Southland, hailing from Los Angeles.

On the Trojan team, Galloway, who is now playing quarter, is the Manual Arts ex-captain and one of the best quarters in the South. This is the third year on the varsity for Keith Hunter, one of the best lineplungers.

CHICAGO PLAYER TO LEAD THE GOLFERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Miss Edith E. Packard, of the Beverly Country Club, Chicago was elected president of the Women's Western Golf Association at the annual meeting here today, succeeding Mrs. J. P. Gardner of the Wheaton, (Ill.,) Golf Club, who had been president four years. The 1919 championship tournament will be held outside of Chicago, it was announced, but the award will not be made until after the first of the year.

The Coronado Country Club of Coronado, Cal., and the Delevan (Wis.) Country Club were admitted to the association, bringing the total membership up to eighty-six clubs. It was decided to donate $670.70, representing the entrance fees to the 1918 tournament, to the fatherless children of France fund.

Among the members of the Executive Committee elected for the ensuing year are Mrs. William M. Jones of the Tacoma Golf and Country Club, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. J. W. Chase of the Detroit Country Club; Mrs. James Woodworth of the Town and Country Club, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Thomas Jaines, Atlantic Athletic Club, Decatur, Ga.; Miss Elizabeth Allen, Rock Island Arsenal Golf Club, Rock Island, Ill.; Mrs. E. H. Sprague, Omaha Country Club, Benson, Neb.; Mrs. Davis Gaut, Memphis Country Club, Buntyn, Tenn.; Miss Arlisle Seaman, Sheboygan Country Club, Sheboygan, Wis.; Mrs. Luther Kennett, Coronado Country Club, Coronado, Cal.; Mrs. Edwin H. Steedman, St. Louis Country Club, St. Louis.

TURKEY DAY GAME SHOULD BE CORKER.

The first Army and Navy football encounter of the season will come off Thanksgiving Day, when the Camp Kearny team meets the Naval Reserve eleven at Exposition Park. This will be the initial local appearance of the Kearny divisional eleven and little dope concerning them has shifted to this locality. However the squad is under the capable wing of Coach Pipal and with the abundance of experienced material on hand, it promises to be a crackerjack team.

The navy boys have twice been seen in action here against the U.S.C. men, and though the encounters took the form of scoreless scrimmages, it is easy to see that the reserve has a wonderful bunch of gridiron heroes that will be hard to stop. Two men will be seen in the coming game, that have been absent in the last two appearances of their squad. Kaiser, who plays full-back, has recovered from his sprained knee in time to get in the game, and Higson returns from a furlough and will give Wark a race for quarter.

Fitzpatrick, of the Santa Clara team and Boucher from California, will do the punting for the reserve. Holmes, formerly of the Oregon Aggies, and Perovich, will fill the two tackle positions. The team will work out every day until Thanksgiving under Coach McClung.

SAN PEDRO MIDDIES HEAD FOR THE SOUTH.

YALE LEADER HERO.

ANNAPOLIS READY FOR SATURDAY BATTLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Nov. 21.—The fact that there will be no army-navy football game this season, naval people here and local football devotees are exhibiting quite as much interest in the contest between the Middies and the eleven of the Great Lakes naval training station of Chicago to be played here Saturday. Both teams will be in fine fettle for the fray. The outcome is being viewed here in the nature of a championship struggle.

RAISE INFLUENZA BAN AT HARBOR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Nov. 21.—The quarantine at the Naval Reserve Training Station was lifted today and about 4500 men were able to resume their usual routine. The Y.M.C.A. and K. of C. Huts were opened yesterday. The quarantine at the Submarine Base was raised some time ago.

Considering the number of men at the two stations the health record throughout the epidemic is a remarkable one. There have been but three deaths at each station during the epidemic of influenza. Dr. Spaulding, medical officer at the Naval Reserve Station was one of the first to recognize the necessity of a strict quarantine. Before any other community in Southern California had taken steps to establish a quarantine Dr. Spaulding clamped down the lid tight at the station.

Conditions generally at San Pedro, where the mortality rate among Italian and Japanese fishermen was unusually high, have greatly improved. There are now very few cases at the Harbor and today Dr. Guidinger, local health officer, headed a petition to Dr Powers asking that the ban be lifted Saturday so far as the Harbor district is concerned.

Aside from the fishermen the mortality was not heavy except at Fort MacArthur, where there were many deaths among drafted men from the Northwest, who contracted the disease en route to camp here and were seriously ill when taken from the train.

TEXAS GOVERNOR PAID $30,500 FOR CHAIR.

SPENT THAT SUM TO BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED, HE REPORTS TO FRIENDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 10.—It cost $30,500 to nominate and elect W. P. Hobby to the office of Governor of Texas. Of this sum, Gov. Hobby and his brother, Edwin Hobby, contributed $11,865. There is no guess work about these figures. They come from Hobby himself, who has set a new Democratic precedent by just issuing a public statement of his campaign expenses, in which the name of each contributor and the amount donated are given.

Practically all of the big sum was expended in campaign work in behalf of his candidacy during the campaign leading up to the Democratic primaries, in which he was nominated for Governor.

It is the largest sum ever expended by a candidate for the Governorship of Texas, so far as is publicly known, although it is generally susp

SPEAKERSHIP IS MUCH DEBATED.

Wright of Pasadena Said to Have Inside Track.

County Delegation, However, is not Sympathetic.

Governor's Visit is Delayed Until Next Week.

BY THE WATCHMAN.

Who will be the next Speaker of the State Assembly?

The question is hard to answer, but this much is certain: The Los Angeles county delegation will be in position to name him.

Just now it appears that H. W. Wright of Pasadena has the inside track. He has the unqualified indorsement of Dr. D. M. Gandier of the anti-saloon forces, and of some of the strongest Johnsonites, both in the south and north, including Al McCabe.

Wright, however, has not hooked up with his own delegation. Of the fifteen Assemblymen in Los Angeles county, he would have only three votes should the matter be tested today. They would be cast by himself and Messrs. Mather and Miller, the two new recruits from the "bonfire," and maybe Tom Ambrose.

When Wright faces the Assembly as a candidate and is unable to support his candidacy with his own home delegation, it is problematical what the effect will be. There are several very good reasons why the "home folks" will oppose Wright to the bitter end.

In the first place, a majority of them were elected on a platform the principal plank of which is economy in State affairs—and Wright is the statesman who a few months ago said he believed in economy all right, but he believed the State ought to be the last to employ it.

Secondly, Wright is the fellow who jumped every time Hiram Johnson or Al McCabe cracked the whip. Whatever they wanted, he did, and it made no difference whether it was for or against Southern California.

These being facts, is there any wonder that the Los Angeles county delegation, which is anti-Johnson and anti-recklessness in the expenditure of moneys, is almost solidly against him?

For weeks before he was elected

Governor's Visit Delayed.

Yesterday word was received from Gov. Stephens that he cannot come to Los Angeles before the end of next week. He is being detained in Sacramento by the illness of his wife and daughter, the latter having been prostrated upon the death of her soldier husband.

No little interest is taken in the coming visit of the Governor, because before he leaves the city he undoubtedly will name the three new members of the Appellate Court bench, and in the event the appointees are taken from the Superior Court he must fill those vacancies too.

At least two new candidates have been mentioned for the Appellate bench. They are Judge Roberts of Ventura, and Judge Thomas of Orange county.

I understand that among the formidable candidates for the judicial plums is Judge Gavin W. Craig, also Judge Meyers. Joe S. Crail has always been considered almost a "sure shot."

Supervisor Chairmanship.

At the first meeting of the Board of Supervisors in December the members will reorganize. John J. Hamilton will sing his little swan song and Ed DeLorey will come in on the chorus.

It is believed that Jonathan Dodge will be elected chairman. He came mighty near landing it two years ago, notwithstanding that he was a new man on the board. Since then he has become more popular with his colleagues, and it is reported that he will be unanimously elected.

Osborne's Big Majority.

At the California Club yesterday Capt. Osborne, the estimable Congressman from the Tenth District, was being congratulated by a host of friends upon the remarkable record he made in the last election. Published figures showed that he licked his competitor by nearly 60,000 votes. He received 72,907 votes, while Ryckman received 9752. This is the largest majority given any candidate for Congress and the largest vote cast for any Congressman who ran in a Congressional district.

Out to be Mayor.

Gesner Williams is the latest to be mentioned as a candidate for Mayor. Following said mention, Williams has come forward with a letter blaming the "flu" situation on the incumbent. It is now declared that Boyle Workman will be a candidate and is preparing to launch his campaign.

OF WAR, LOVE AND WHAT NOT.

Drop Espionage Case When Literary Horse-shoer Suppresses Book.

Louis Petersen, a Santa Ana blacksmith, was brought before United States Commissioner Long yesterday charged with violation of the Espionage Act. His offense was the publication, it is charged, of a pamphlet, entitled "Statement of Truth and Scientific Facts," devoted to a dissertation on the true art of horseshoeing and marriage, with about thirteen pages devoted to an exploitation of the Kaiser.

Assistant United States District Attorney Palmer stated yesterday that the government would not prosecute Petersen, if he would consent to the destruction of the books that had been seized by the special agents of the Department of Justice, about 1800 in number, and this arrangement he agreed to. It could not be shown that he had circulated any of the books since the declaration of war.

The books were printed by a concern in Santa Ana, and copyrighted. Petersen was born in Germany.

E. B. Wickham of Hermosa Beach was making a campaign for the Speakership, and he has several members of the local delegation pledged, but not enough by any means. I do not believe he has a chance.

While A. P. Fleming is not a candidate, he unquestionably will be frequently mentioned when candidates are under consideration. He has had a great deal of legislative experience, and would make an excellent executive.

Frank Merriam of Long Beach would like to have the job, but he is not making much of a fight for it.

It is rumored here that the southern delegation is threatening to get behind a man from the north unless Wright is dropped at once.

I do not believe Gov. Stephens will openly oppose Wright, but I do know that the Pasadenan is in "dutch" with the chief executive, as is anybody who has tooted the horn of Johnson. The Governor would like to have most any southern man excepting Wright, but may have to stomach him.

Sleeplessness Corrected by Internal Baths

Mr. J. B. Barrows writes Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York as follows:

"I am still using the 'J. B. L. Cascade' once a week and find it most efficient for keeping me in fine condition. It acts as a sedative for tired nerves and has been a great help for sleeplessness. I have frequently arisen from bed and used it in the middle of the night with satisfactory results."

The reason for this remarkable result is because the functions cannot work properly when there is accumulation of waste in the lower intestine.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" by the simple process of properly applying warm water eliminates all this waste and causes the functions to work smoothly and properly.

Over half a million intelligent Americans are now using the Cascade with similar results.

It is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, M.D., of New York, a noted specialist on internal bathing.

It will be shown and explained to you by The Owl Drug Co. who will be glad to give you an interesting booklet by Dr. Tyrrell called "Why Man of Today is Only 15 per cent. Efficient." This booklet is free upon request. Ask for it today while you think of it.—[Advertisement.

Petitions for Dissolution Presented to Court by Corporations.

The Merchants' and Insurers' Reporting Company yesterday, through Attorneys Slosson and Mitchell, filed a petition of dissolution. The directors are George L. Mitchell, P. C. Gernert and Robert Mitchell. The dissolution was agreed upon by the holders of more than two-thirds of the subscribed capital stock, the petition stated.

An official of the company who was charged with making false statements as to its assets and liabilities was sent to the penitentiary on a three-year sentence, but served eighteen months. He denied the charge and made a vigorous but unsuccessful defense.

The American Used Car Company, through its directors, John R. Osborne, Laura C. Osborne and J. R. Allread, filed a petition yesterday to dissolve that corporation, in the best interests of the stockholders. It was stated that it is possible at this time to distribute the assets of the corporation to the stockholders.

Carpenters at Film Studio Victims of Accident.

Fall Forty Feet as Network of Timber Totters.

Two were killed, two probably fatally injured and five others seriously hurt at the Inceville motion-picture studio, north of Santa Monica, yesterday morning, when a stage collapsed. The men were constructing part of a street scene to be used in filming a picture. The scaffolding gave way, and all the crew fell to the ground, a distance of nearly forty feet.

As quickly as possible the dying and injured were hurried to St. Catherine's Hospital at the beach city.

Alvin Riggs, living at No. 521 South Mathews street, Los Angeles, and William H. Graham, No. 223 San Benito street, were found dead. Their necks had been broken.

Edward Crandall of No. 827 Venezia avenue, Venice, and R. J. Wilkinson of No. 941½ Blaine street, Los Angeles, are probably fatally injured. Both have fractures of the arms and legs and internal injuries.

The others less seriously hurt are: David S. Smith, No. 141 Essex street, Los Angeles; C. F. Kittredge, No. 1526 North Alexander street; Peter Mehler, No. 418 East Forty-third street, Los Angeles; F. L. Joseph, East Fifth street, Los Angeles; A. A. Jason, No. 616 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

The Lennox Film Company has temporarily been occupying the big Inceville plant.

All the injured men are carpenters. The scaffolding on which they stood was put up in the usual manner and securely braced, said members of the film company. But all of a sudden the huge network of timbers tottered and started to fall. Some men working near the ground were able to escape.

The inquest will be held tomorrow morning at the O. A. Kirkelle morgue.

ABUSE CAUSED DEATH.

Doctor Says Woman Whom Bray is Charged with Killing Had Fifty-seven Bruises.

The preliminary hearing of Edward J. Bray, alleged murderer of Bertha May Wiswell, was continued before Justice Summerfield yesterday. Autopsy Surgeon Wanger testified that his post-mortem examination showed fifty-seven distinct bruises on the body, that death was caused by a hemorrhage induced by external abuse, and that while a trace of congestion was found in the lungs it was not sufficient to cause death.

The Wiswell woman was buried after a Dr. Finch had stated that death was caused by influenza.

The other witness was Mrs. Alice Thompson, who attended the woman before her death. She stated that Bray had told her he had beaten the woman, and asked her on the night of her death if she thought that he had struck her too hard. The hearing was continued until this afternoon.

HE KEEPS LAND.

Owner of Wide-spreading Escondido Acreage Loses Suit Involving Neighbor's Homestead Claim.

Register Groves and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office yesterday decided the contest brought by Jean Casaurang against Charles T. Dixon, in favor of the latter and ordered the proceedings dismissed.

The land involved amounts to a quarter section, adjacent to an area of 16,000 acres owned by Casaurang, in the vicinity of Escondido. For some time there had been bad blood between the men, it appears, and Casaurang tried to buy out Dixon, but he refused to sell. Then he instituted a contest to invalidate the homestead claim of Dixon, on the ground that the land was more valuable for mineral than agricultural purposes. It was on this point that testimony was taken and the officials of the Land Office found for Dixon.

GET BACK STREETS.

Avalon's Incorporation Terminates Functions of Freeholders' Association of Island Town.

With the incorporation of Avalon as a city, the functions of the Freeholders' Association came to an end. Yesterday a deed was filed in the County Recorder's office by which abutting property owners regain title to the streets in that city. In 1909 control of the streets was turned over to the association, with the view of promoting a plan to make Catalina Island a more popular resort.

NOW HAVE HOME PLACE.

Land Contestants Who Finally Married Make Final Proofs on Saugus Property.

Finis was written to the famous land case involving a quarter section in the vicinity of Saugus, when thirteen prospectors made a rush for the territory when the land was opened to entry in 1913, in the local Land Office yesterday, when the former Sue Barclay, the only woman who made the rush, and afterward married Thompson Smith, one of the claimants, made final proof of the forty acres that had been finally awarded to her by the Secretary of the Interior. Her husband also made his final proof, involving forty acres, and they now have eighty acres between them.

The contest in the local Land Office, in the fall of 1915, was filled with interesting and exciting episodes. In the final adjudication, Mrs. Smith, who was then Sue Barclay, was awarded her present acreage and Smith also secured forty acres. They were married in February, 1918, but having both resided on their individual land the time required by the homestead law, they were allowed as husband and wife to combine their entries.

CLEARED OF MINES.

That the Allied fleets are generally sweeping the ocean war zone clear of mines, thus opening the seas to commerce, is indicated by a telegram received yesterday by Robert C. Peyton, agent in charge of transportation at the local office of the War Trade Board in the Central Building.

Owners of steamers are notified that the war or dangerous mine-infested zone now extends only as far south as the southern boundary of the Bay of Biscay. Until the receipt of yesterday's order the board would not issue licenses for sailing vessels to enter the war zone, as they could not run away from a submarine, and the war zone then included much of the south Atlantic and Mediterranean waters. Now sailing vessels may enter the Mediterranean and ports of the Bay of Biscay, and it is expected that the entire Atlantic, North Sea and English Channel will be soon cleared of mines and open to commerce.

NOW HAS ONE COMING.

Music Salesman Must Face Charge Growing Out of Guessing Contest Involving a Piano.

Al G. Barnes, a piano salesman, no relation to the circus proprietor of the same name, was taken into custody at Anaheim yesterday, by Deputy United States Marshal Cavanaugh, on a complaint charging that he had used the mails in a scheme to defraud. Barnes was indicted by the Federal grand jury at El Paso, and will have his hearing on the removal proceedings before United States Commissioner Long this morning. In default of $2000 bail he was committed to the County Jail.

It is charged that in January last, Barnes and another individual, advertised in several El Paso papers that they would hold a guessing contest, the winner to get a $400 piano, and that the plan was a fraud.

Barnes will not contest the removal proceedings, it is said, saying he desires to return immediately to El Paso to face the charges against him.

FLIRTING CHARGE WAS LAST STRAW, SHE SAYS.

Mrs. Helen Hoberg declared in Judge Avery's court yesterday that her husband, Dell E. Humphrey, laid the last straw on her woes when he charged her with flirting with a man in a cafe. She said she stood a great deal of abuse from her husband for years, but she left him when he accused her of the cafe incident. Mr. Humphrey denied the charges in an answer. He did not appear to oppose the divorce suit, but was represented by an attorney. The decree was granted.

ADMITS HIS GUILT.

Joe Dees, said to be a member of a gang of auto accessories thieves, who is believed to have taken part in numerous hold-ups in the city, yesterday entered a plea of guilty to charges of grand larceny before Superior Judge Craig. Dees was specifically charged with the theft of a motorcycle from Otto Laeschke October 13. Judge Craig set December 5 for passing sentence and decision on Dee's application for probation.

WILL IN GERMAN FILED.

GREAT SAVINGS DRIVE.

A war savings campaign, to be known as W.S.S. Honor Week, for the purpose of collecting all unfulfilled war savings pledges and selling sufficient stamps to put Southern California over the top, will be held during Thanksgiving week, November 24 to 30, inclusive, it was announced yesterday.

Plans for the week's programme throughout Southern California, under the direction of G. Aubrey Davidson, State director for California, South, and his assistant, John T. McBean, embody many practical features of interest and an urgent appeal to all patriotic citizens to make the campaign a success through their individual co-operation is made.

The fact that only 50 per cent. of the war savings pledges made to the government last June have been redeemed and that there is great danger that Southern California will fail to fulfill its quota is the reason for this intensive "mop-up" campaign.

W.S.S. Honor Week will be carried on through precinct organizations and War Savings societies in every city and county and many features to secure the success of the campaign are under way. If the "flu" ban is lifted, there will be patriotic meetings and speeches, and a house-to-house canvass for the purpose of ascertaining the exact status of every man, woman and child with regard to War Savings Stamps will be held. There will be a W.S.S. Honor Roll for those who have fulfilled their quota and an honor button to be worn.

RID OF WIFE, TAKES NIECE.

Veteran and Relative Fight Over the Housework.

He Turns Her Out and She Sues for Services.

Court Finds for Woman in Remarkable Suit.

"I have gotten rid of my good wife. She has gone where the woodbine twineth and the whangdoodle mourneth for its first born," wrote G. P. Woodworth, 75 years old, a veteran of the Civil War, residing at No. 324 West Twelfth street, Long Beach, to his niece, Miss Mary Woodworth, a school-teacher in Prairie du Chien, Wis., under date of January 11, 1914.

Mr. Woodworth had written his niece to give up her position and come to him as his housekeeper. He promised to fix his property so that it would be all her own at his death. He sent her $60, advised her to come in the tourist car, pack all she could in her trunk and put the overflow in a little box.

"Throw them in," he told her, "and work fast. Buy a bottle of malted milk tablets to eat en route; that's about all you will need. Get in your berth, go to sleep; any little girl can make the trip."

Miss Woodworth arrived and her uncle, who is separated from his wife, met her at the station. The arrangement conduced to unhappiness. They quarreled, and finally, after four years, he ordered her out. Miss Woodworth brought suit for services, claiming $2275.

She told Judge Works yesterday they scrapped over who was to do the housework. He testified that when he met her at the station she indicated an antagonistic spirit. He said he did all the cooking, washed his own clothes and cleaned up his room. She hit him on the head with a frying pan and knocked him to his knees, he declared. She threw hot water on him. He offered to rent her a room at $15 a week. From the beginning, he said, he expected her to make her own clothes.

"She would hang rags on the clothesline," he said, "and tear her shoes into strips."

Judge Works found for Miss Woodworth on the facts. The contract between them was a question of law and will be decided later.

SEEK HOMES FOR FIGHTERS.

Many Communications Regarding Public Land are Received Here.

Register Mitchell, of the local Land Office, is in receipt of a number of communications from various parts of the State, asking for data and information regarding the public lands that it is proposed to dispose of to soldiers and sailors serving in the war.

It is the understanding of the Register that the lands proposed to be devoted to the use of the soldiers and sailors have not yet been classified. No one excepting an individual who has served in the army or navy is eligible to its occupancy, according to the provisions of the pending bill that has been approved by Secretary of the Interior Lane.

Register Mitchell has received an offer from Gus D. Thomas, who, with two other men, owns 16,000 acres in Fremont Valley, 112 miles north of Los Angeles, along the line of the Southern Pacific. The area is in the vicinity of the Los Angeles aqueduct, and along the line of the proposed Lincoln highway. It lies 2500 feet high, and it is said that water can be had at a depth of from fifty to 300 feet. The land is said to be admirable for agricultural purposes.

The pending bill provides for the settlement of soldiers and sailors on unoccupied government land, and there is a provision for the condemnation of real estate for the benefit of the defenders of the nation, under certain circumstances.
